Britain Slashes Forces, To Direct Labor in Crisis

By John Dauphinee

LONDON, AUG. 6.—(CP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today in a tensely-waiting House of Commons a multi-sided program to save dollars, including a drastic £12,000,000 ($48,000,000) monthly slash in food imports from the dollar area, and warned that the British people will be called upon to work longer hours, with less material incentives, for economic victory.

He promised to "do everything in our power" to maintain the country's meagre basic rations, adding that the government will be ready to meet any cut with a plan to give food preference to heavy manual workers.

Unfolding before a packed house details of the government's broad program to counter Britain's growing economic crisis, Attlee said Britain would reduce her armed forces overseas, impose limited direction of labor and seek relaxation of clauses in the United States loan agreement.

He said workers "in the more essential industries" would have to work longer and that coal miners would be asked to extend their working day by half an hour.

The cuts in imports, most significant of which is the drastic reduction in food supplies from the dollar area, embracing Canada and the United States, would mean "hardships for many people," Attlee said.

The United States, at Britain's request, has agreed to discuss the clauses relating to sterling convertibility and non-discrimination in trade agreements in the American $3,750,000,000 loan, which the prime minister said would be exhausted this year.

Restrictions on restaurant and hotel meals will be imposed immediately, the prime minister declared without amplification.

Outside the House of Commons, it was understood that the plan is to reduce food supplies to restaurants but to avoid coupon rationing.

United States Presses Offer Mediate War

By Richard Applegate

BATAVIA, Aug. 6.—(U.P.)— American Consul General Walter A. Foote tonight broadcast over the Batavia radio a United States offer of good offices in the Indonesian-Dutch conflict.

FOOTE'S PERSONAL broadcast was intended to get the U.S. offer to the Republican capital of Jogjakarta. He took to the air when Indonesian authorities reported to him that they were unable to get through because of disruption of communications.

"I am instructed by the United States government to make available to you its good offices as have been made available to the Dutch," he said. "Please give me your reply as soon as possible."

The American offer was put forth as each side charged the other with violating the cease-fire orders issued at the request of the United Nations.

A Dutch communique said three Dutch soldiers had been killed and 40 wounded since the truce began. It reported Indonesian raids in Java and Sumatra.

THE NETHERLANDS communique, however, conceded that Dutch troops continued clearing Dutch-occupied areas and that "a few skirmishes occurred during these operations." Indonesians complained the Dutch continued to advance after fighting was scheduled to stop.

The United States formally notified an Indonesian spokesman in Batavia that an American mediation commission would leave immediately for the East Indies if the Indonesians agreed. There was every indication, however, that the

Tomatoes Thrown At Eva Peron

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 6. (Reuters)—In two separate incidents, Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine president, has been the target of ripe tomatoes and of stones during the last two days.

Monday after her arrival at Bern on an official visit, Communist demonstrators buried tomatoes at the visiting Argentine first lady, and Tuesday at Lucerne stones were thrown.

In neither incident was Mme. Peron hurt. The offenders were arrested and are to be tried, police said.

67 Alberta Roads Under Construction

Work is under way on a total of 67 highway construction and rebuilding projects covering 2,395 miles within Alberta, according to N. W. Macpherson, Alberta highway commissioner.

CONTRACTS have been let for 39 of these pieces of work, while the government is using day labor and its own machinery for the remaining 28. These figures do not include one subway railway crossing and one overhead crossing now being constructed between Red Deer and Ponoka.

THIS YEARS program included three steel beam subways and one concrete overhead, the report points out, but two of these projects are at present awaiting approval from the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Dies in East

J. F. MacMILLAN

J. F. MacMillan Dies Suddenly

J. Frank MacMillan, prominent Edmonton business man, died at Charlottetown, P.E.I., Wednesday morning, according to word received here by friends. He was 68 years old.

He was making a visit to his birthplace, Charlottetown, and was stricken with a heart attack from which he succumbed. He was apparently in good health when he left Edmonton about three weeks ago, for his visit east, and motored to the head of lakes, from which point he went to the Maritime province by steamer and rail.

Mr. MacMillan entered the service of the Royal Bank of Canada at an early age, and was manager of its main branch in Edmonton until the middle 1920's when he resigned to devote his attention to private business.

He was actively identified with the lumber industry in this province for many years, and was president of the Chisholm Lumber Co. and other companies. He recently disposed of most of his interests in this industry.

Mr. MacMillan took an active part in politics in the province for many years, and was a supporter of the Liberal party.

He was a member of First Presbyterian church.

Funeral arrangements are pending but it is expected that burial will take place at Charlottetown.

Other Import Cuts

Besides food, Attlee announced these other import cuts:

A £10,000,000 annual reduction in imports of timber, most of which comes from Canada;

A £5,000,000 annual reduction in imports of luxury consumer goods;

A cut in film imports by limiting remittances on foreign films to not more than 25 per cent of earnings on those films.

The gasoline ration for private motorists will be cut by one-third to permit 180 miles of motoring monthly and supplementary allowances for business purposes will be cut by 10 per cent.

Gasoline limits for all commercial vehicles also will be cut by one-tenth.

These changes will be effective Oct. 1.

The foreign travel allowance after Oct. 1 will be £35 ($140) for 14 months instead of the present £75 ($300) for 12 months and the allowance for children will be cut accordingly to £20 instead of £40.

Emphasizing that "no question of a coalition arises; that has not been sponsored from either the Labor side or the Conservative side," Attlee called on every Briton to help win the country's current economic battle.

The Labor government leader told the House of Commons the agreement reached when the Uni-

Continue Palestine Roundup

JERUSALEM, Aug. 6. (AP)—Three more Jews were taken into custody today as British authorities continued their roundup of Jewish leaders whom the government says have "shown sympathy for the policy of violence" or have "been in contact with the underground."

In Jerusalem, a sharp explosion shattered the early morning quiet of a dusk to dawn curfew area, but British Army officials said there were no casualties from the blast, apparently caused by a grenade tossed at a British post near the Jewish Agency building.

Aproximately 40 Jewish leaders now are being held at Latrun detention camp, including the mayors of the all Jewish towns of Tel Aviv, Natanya and Ramat Gan. Most of the others being held were members of the Revisionist

No Great Hardship Seen for Canada

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Government sources were cautious today in estimating what effect Britain's proposed $48,000,000 slash in monthly food imports from dollar countries would have on Canada, but some officials said they did not think the Dominion would suffer any great hardship.

These officials said most of the food products imported from Canada by the United Kingdom were under long-term contracts and they understood the terms of these contracts would not be affected. The contracts cover wheat, bacon, cheese, eggs, beef and milk.

The officials recalled that only recently the United Kingdom had stopped poultry purchases in Canada. Previously it had been announced that the United Kingdom would not take Canadian apples this year. It was also announced that the space allotted to token shipments of non-essential goods would not be increased.

Meanwhile, it was learned authoritatively that any relaxation of the Anglo-American loan agreement terms would affect the terms of the Canadian loan to Britain.

U.S. Hopes for Action On Balkans Situation

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The United States was reported ready today to suggest that the United Nations General Assembly handle the Balkans situation if the Security Council cannot do so because of Russia's veto.

THE COUNCIL was called to continue debate on the Balkans, with the prospect of some of the plainest speaking yet heard in that group of 11 diplomats.

An authoritative source said that Herschel V. Johnson, United States deputy on the Security Council, was all set to make an important statement outlining the United States position substantially this way:

1. The United States hopes that the Security Council will act to meet the situation. But, if the council cannot do that through the use of the veto, the United States is confident that the general assembly will handle the situation.

2. THE UNITED STATES feels strongly on the Soviet use of veto.

See No Danger Polio Epidemic

By The Canadian Press

Poliomyelitis cases were increasing across Canada, a Canadian Press survey indicated today but medical authorities in many large centres where several cases have been reported with the last few days insist there is no danger of a general epidemic and that the number of cases is less than at a corresponding period in 1946.

In Montreal six cases have been reported during the week-end bringing to a total of eight to date compared to last year's 111 cases at this time.

In Saskatchewan two cases have been fatal with a total of 35 polio victims reported throughout the province.

Only one fatality from the disease has been reported in British Columbia this year but the west coast province is the hardest hit with 101 cases reported, 77 of them in greater Vancouver.

Manitoba reports a total of 73 cases this year with 31 in Winnipeg, seven in Brandon, five in Portage La Prairie and the remainder scattered in smaller centres.

In Ontario, 51 cases have been reported to date this year and only one of these has resulted in fatality. Five-year old vacationing Penny Joy of Cornwall, Ont., was the victim, dying at Kirkland Lake hospital. Last year there were 64 cases and five deaths in the same period in Ontario.

Chinese Returning To Their Homeland

VANCOUVER, Aug. 6. —(CP)— Vancouver's immigration building has resounded during the past 18 months with the shuffle of Chinese feet on the way to their homeland. Officials estimate that for the year-and-a-half period more than 2,000 Chinese have booked passage to China—and the rate is increasing. Most of the Chinese are elderly, returning to their birthplace after many years in the "new land."

Using Different Method

Leduc No. 7 Expected Start Producing Today

Minutes before news deadline Wednesday, the production kick-in of Imperial's seventh well in the Leduc sector of the Edmonton oil fields was expected, it was learned from field geologists. Because of a high column of water in the Leduc No. 7, officials decided on a different method of coaxing the 5,397-foot shaft into petroleum flow and a natural force process by connecting No. 2 producer with No. 7 replaced the customary baling or "swabbing" method.

THE EXPLORATION office in Edmonton announced that arrangements are underway for the establishment of another site. Leduc No. 15—but were not sufficiently advanced to be able to state the location.

Imperial's Wednesday progress report: Muskeg, 5,250; Morinville, 4,584; Looma, 6,043; Paddle River, 5,237; Battle Lake, 5,252; No. 8, 4,926; No. 11, 2,128; No. 12, 1,032; No. 13, 402.

A field report from Okalta-Leduc No. 1 late Tuesday disclosed that core testing was underway at a depth of 5,295 feet to search for signs of having entered the third Devonian shield.

Globe-Leduc West No. 2, first independent in the Leduc sector to give spectacular indications in a 540-foot drillstem of clean petroleum in another drillstem test Monday obtained only an 80-foot rise of drilling mud. Porosity in the lower part of D2 having tightened since the promising rise between 4,890 and 4,940 feet. The well is now being cored for another 40 feet and results will determine taking of another drillstem test, but principal objective is the third Devonian section.

Prime Minister Silent On Plans to Retire

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—A source close to the government said that as far as he knew Prime Minister Mackenzie-King has not told even his closest associates when he plans to resign and retire from public life.

ABBOTT KING

THE SOURCE was commenting on a statement made in Vancouver Monday by James Sinclair, Liberal member of the Commons for Vancouver North. Mr. Sinclair was quoted as saying in an interview that "when Mr. King, as is expected, resigns next spring, the emphasis will be on youth when his successor is chosen." Mr. Sinclair said Finance Minister Abbott, 48, was the leading contender to succeed the prime minister.

The statement was a "further stage" in the speculation on the plans of the 72-year-old prime minister, said the source. He recalled that Mr. King stated during the 1945 general election campaign and since that he would not contest another general election. The life of the present parliament expires in 1950.

MR. KING'S silence on his future plans has not prevented his supporters from speculating. In fact,

"Best Lab in Canada"

U. of A. Soil Testing Aids Roads, Airports

By Dick Sherbaniuk

Bigger and better Canadian airfields and improved Alberta highways will give important aid to Canada's post-war economy, and the soil mechanics laboratory at the University of Alberta today is carrying on research projects which will help make these objectives possible.

THE AIRFIELD, and highway projects are but two of the many services of the university in the little-publicised field of soil mechanics.

Soil mechanics is a comparatively new part of the construction field, and has been developed on a scientific basis since about 1920. Most Canadian work has been done during the last 10 years, and Alberta university's 12-year laboratory has pioneered in the Canadian research.

Defined as "the study of properties of soils that have a bearing on soil behavior when used in engineering construction, such as highways, earth dams, building foundations" by Prof R. M. Hardy, dean of applied science at the

FDR's Son Demands Name Be Cleared

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)— Elliott Roosevelt testified yesterday he might be "open to reprimand" for letting plane manufacturer Howard Hughes foot a $576.85 hotel bill for him as "a wedding present."

Roosevelt also told a Senate war investigating sub-committee that Jack Frye, former president of Trans World airline, which is controlled by Hughes, paid $850 in hotel costs for the marriage.

But the son of the late president angrily challenged Hughes' publicity man, John W. Meyer, to say whether girls listed on Meyer's expense account were "procured" for him.

Roosevelt married movie actress Faye Emerson Dec. 3, 1944. He said he objects to "insinuations" about her, and has no knowledge of a gift of $132 of nylon stockings to her listed on Meyer's expense sheet.

In demanding that Meyer say whether girls were "procured" for him, Roosevelt stormed that it is "utterly despicable" that Meyer should indicate "every girl he got was for me."

Contending that he hasn't getting an answer, Roosevelt urged that the senators "clear up my moral record."

Under the heading "Col. Elliott Roosevelt," the committee has a record of Meyer's expense vouchers for entertainment totalling just over $5,000 in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Mounties to Hunt Missing U.S. Funds

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—The Mounties are going to work on the case of the missing American dollars.

Key agency in Canada's drive for those dollars, the Foreign Exchange Control Board announced yesterday the RCMP are launching "a country wide check of the way storekeepers, service stations, hotels and others are handling U.S. currency received from tourists."

"Reports indicate that many merchants are not turning in their U.S. dollar receipts but are paying them out freely in change and in some cases are selling them to the public in exchange for Canadian currency at the board said.

It recalled that tourists "are one of the main sources of the foreign exchange needed to pay for Canadian imports and other normal expenditures in the United States. So that their U.S. dollars will be available for these purposes, regulations require that Canadian merchants and others turn the U.S. currency they receive into their banks."

The check-up now is being made and "where breaches are found prosecutions under the foreign exchange control act will be commenced."

guesses as to his probable departure date and as to his likely successor have become a favorite pastime in the capital's political circles.

During the recent session some Liberal members said they had heard that Mr. King, on his doctor's orders, would resign in September and turn the prime ministership over to External Affairs Minister St. Laurent until a new leader could be chosen at a national convention and elected to the Commons.

Other members said Mr. King would resign next June when he will have surpassed the Commonwealth record for a prime ministership, established in the 18th century by Britain's Sir Robert Walpole.

A FEW LIBERAL members said there was always a possibility that world conditions would be such come next election time that Mr. King would feel obliged to reverse his earlier decision to retire.

In recent weeks it has been frequently reported that Mr. St. Laurent wants to retire from public life and return to his law practice in Quebec.

Besides Mr. St. Laurent, the most frequently mentioned as possible successors to Mr. King have been Finance Minister Abbott, 48, Transport Minister Chevrier, 44, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 65, Health Minister Martin, 44, Defence Minister Claxton, 48, Justice Minister Ilsley, 58, Reconstruction Minister Howe, 61, and 49-year-old Lester B. Pearson, popular undersecretary of state for external affairs.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Hon. Douglas Charles Abbott, 48-year-old Federal finance minister, is the leading contender to succeed Prime Minister King to the leadership of Canada's Liberal party, James G. Sinclair, Liberal member of Parliament for Vancouver North said Tuesday.

Mr. Sinclair told The Canadian Press that he thought all of the six younger cabinet ministers "were contenders but Finance Minister Douglas Abbott is at the moment the logical successor—all the way."

Attlee Outlines Crisis Program

ed States advanced credits of $3,750,000,000 was aggravating the British economic crisis.

Attlee said the loan, originally intended to last until 1950, would be exhausted by the end of this year, but denied that the Labor administration had "frittered away" the loan, as Winston Churchill charged in an address Monday.

Attlee said the dollar discussions would not "cut across" the current Paris discussions on the Marshall Plan for aid to Europe.

Britain could not and would not base her plans on the assumption that the Marshall Plan would lead to further American help.

Announcing the remedies the government proposed, Attlee said one of the first essentials was the further redevelopment of domestic resources. "We must concentrate as much as possible on those resources, on the reconstruction and development of basic industries and services, on the production of goods for export and on the production of all those things which save us imports."

Non-essentials must be cut out.

Cut Non-Essentials

The second essential was to increase the total output so that Britain could stand on her own legs as soon as possible.

The third requisite was to press ahead with plans for the expansion of production in the colonial Empire.

A definite target was being set in the basic industries and services, with coal first of all.

Proposals had been put before the mine-workers' leaders for a limited period of an extra half hour's work a day as an emergency measure, while the five-day week would still be preserved.

Attlee in his grim statement outlining the Socialist regime's plans to overcome its dollar famine, said Great Britain had proposed negotiations with the United States for revision of two clauses in the loan agreement.

"I am glad to say Mr. Marshall (U.S. secretary of state) replied agreeing to those discussions," he said.

His reference was to international conversations on Marshall's proposal of American aid for European economic recovery, a proposal shunned by Russia and the Eastern European countries in her sphere.

Must Increase Output

ATTLEE SAID the loan clauses to be discussed were the agreements on sterling convertibility and non-discrimination in trade, both targets in Churchill's address Monday to the opposition Conservative party.

Under the non-discrimination clause, Britain may not cut down her purchases in the United States in order to increase them in non-dollar countries.

"We have been driven to pay dollars or convertible sterling for our supplies and the problem of convertibility is really a problem of the world shortage of dollars, rather than one arising more particularly from the loan agreement," Attlee said.

He continued that he was about to propose cuts in British imports and subsequently, "the question of discriminating purchases becomes one of much more importance."

Oliver Stanley, Conservative, opened the debate, accusing the government of "encouraging inflation" and "distorting our economy." Stanley said the Labor administration could have prevented the swift exhausting of the United States loan, originally expected to last until 1950.

ATTLEE ANNOUNCED that the American loan would be exhausted before the end of this year.

In a general review of the course of events leading to Britain's present position, he said that by the end of 1946, Britain's exports had reached a level of 111 per cent over the 1938 volume.

Attlee said the American loan was designed to enable Britain to stand on her own feet, but "it would be utterly wrong for Britain to become dependent permanently on another country, however friendly." It was originally hoped that the loan would last until 1950, when Britain might have regained her equilibrium.

An immense amount of internal reconstruction had been accomplished, however. There had been increased production and an unparalleled redeployment of labor, but there had been difficulties and disappointments.

He suggested that "maybe we have tried to do too much in a short time. It may well be that we have relaxed controls too soon."

Some workers, Attlee said, had failed to realize that shorter hours and higher wages had to be matched by greater effort.

"But the record of the people during the past two years is one of which any country can be proud."

IMMEDIATE IMPOSITION of very heavy sacrifices by foregoing the loan might have resulted in failure to reconstruct. There had been pressure to give the people more of everything. "I do not think it is unwise to hold a balance in these matters."

Attlee declared that the suggestion of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill "that we have frittered away the loan" was not true.

He said the slow recovery of Europe, heavy overseas commitments and the prolonging of those commitments had worked against Britain and had been beyond her control.

Prices of British imports had risen by more than 40 per cent since the loan was negotiated, Attlee continued, and by more than 20 per cent since Britain began to draw on it.

"I think it is fair to say that the world dollar shortage would have arisen earlier if it had not been for UNRRA and for loans provided by the United States to other countries."

IN THE LAST FEW months adverse factors had "shown themselves with ever-increasing severity."

The over-all adverse balance—$400,000,000 in 1946—had risen to something more than £700,000,000 in the first half of this year.

Salient feature in recent developments was the increase in dollar deficits.

"For the year 1946 our total dollar deficit was under £350,000,000 even if we include Canadian dollars. For the first six months of 1947, our U.S. dollar deficit was £405,000,000, which represents an annual rate of £810,000,000."

Offer Mediation

Indonesians would insist on a commission composed of several nations.

The American offer of its good offices was given to Indonesian Vice-Premier A. K. Gani by United States Consul General Walter A. Foote. Foote said he asked a speedy reply.

WHEN GANI reportedly pointed out that lack of communications made it difficult for him to relay the offer to the Republican capital of Jogjakarta, Foote offered to intercede with the Dutch to speed the message along.

Antara, the Indonesian news agency, quoted Indonesian Premier Sjarifoeddin as saying that he would not negotiate until a United Nations commission arrived.

The Dutch-Indonesian truce was reached under pressure from UN, and Sjarifoeddin was represented as feeling that UN should insist on the peace-making that it started.

LONDON, Aug. 6. (BUP) — Six anti-Jewish incidents occurred in Liverpool early today and one man was arrested, police reported.

Windows were smashed despite the fact that all Liverpool street lights were turned on to help police thwart demonstrations.

The Liverpool incidents, however, showed a sharp drop from the previous four nights of full fledged rioting.

Britain yesterday defended her rights to maintain troops in Egypt and demanded that the Security Council strike the Egyptian complaint from its calendar.

BRITISH DELEGATE, Sir Alexander Cadogan, took the floor after Egyptian Premier Nokrashy Pasha made a personal appeal to the council to free his country from British imperialism by ordering the immediate withdrawal of British forces.

Cadogan said that if anybody was threatening peace in that area it was Egypt and not Britain. He charged that Egypt was trying to evade her international obligations accepted in the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936, which he said could be altered or terminated only with the consent of both parties.

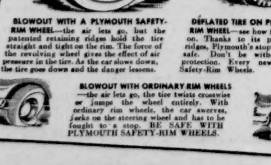
If it's Safety you want it's Plymouth you want

If it's SAFETY you want—look at these great PLYMOUTH SAFETY features — SAFETY-RIM WHEELS — an exclusive safety feature with Chrysler-built cars — give you greater protection in the event of blowouts and other sudden tire failures. PLYMOUTH'S SAFETY ALL-STEEL BODY—gives extra strength, longer life and greater safety in case of accident. PLYMOUTH'S EQUAL PRESSURE HYDRAULIC BRAKES—pioneered and developed by Chrysler Engineers—provide smooth, equal braking at each wheel. Stopping power is increased one-third with 25—30% less pedal pressure. These are only a few of the many outstanding SAFETY features of Plymouth.

All that Chrysler Engineers know about building fine automobiles goes into the great new Plymouth. Plymouth is Engineered throughout. Engineered for style—Engineered for comfort—Engineered for economy—Engineered for performance and Engineered for your SAFETY. And, in addition to being the SAFEST Plymouth ever built by Chrysler, the big new Plymouth is priced right down with the lowest.

PLYMOUTH'S SAFETY-RIM WHEELS PROVIDE PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS



BLOWOUT WITH A PLYMOUTH SAFETY-RIM WHEEL—the air leaks out but the patented retaining ridges hold the tire straight and tight on the rim. The force of the revolving wheel gives the effect of air pressure in the tire. As the car slows down, the tire goes down and the danger lessens.

DEFLATED TIRE ON PLYMOUTH SAFETY-RIM WHEEL—see how firmly the tire stays on. Thanks to its patented retaining ridges, Plymouth's stop was straight and safe. Don't be without this proved protection. Every new Plymouth has Safety-Rim Wheels.

BLOWOUT WITH ORDINARY RIM WHEELS—the air lets go, the tire twists crosswise or jumps the wheel entirely. With ordinary rim wheels, the car swerves, jerks on the steering wheel and has to be fought to a stop. BE SAFE WITH PLYMOUTH SAFETY-RIM WHEELS.

Check these Plymouth Features . . .

Wed at Vegreville

Mr. and Mrs. William Forst are pictured above after their recent wedding in the Vegreville United Church. The bride is the former Miss Julia Schurek, youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Schurek of Vegreville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Forst of Mundare. The couple will live in Toronto.

Vegreville Girl Weds Mundare Man

VEGREVILLE, Aug. 6.—Miss Julia Schurek, youngest daughter of Mrs. Schurek, of Vegreville, became the bride of Mr. William Frost, formerly of Vegreville and more recently of Mundare, at a recent wedding in the Vegreville United Church.

The bride wore a floor length gown with a sweetheart neckline and carried a white prayer book with lily of the valley and ferns. She wore a corsage of gardenias and roses, and her jewelry consisted of a gold locket and bracelet, and a gold watch, gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were four bridesmaids. They were: Miss Anne Frost, sister of the groom; Miss Emily Zezeybida; Miss Olga Koster, of Two Hills, and Miss Rose Ifiody. Best man was Joe Schurek, of Lac la Biche. Also attending the bridegroom were: Miron Woroschuk, of Mundare, Russel Stuparuk and Miron Wilfred Ursulak.

George Kowata played the wedding march and Mrs. Lang sang I'll Walk Beside You, during the signing of the register.

A reception later was held at the home of the bridegroom, for about 300 guests. The couple left for Banff and Jasper on a honeymoon and later will go to Toronto to reside.

Out of town guests included Miss Mary Schurek, eldest sister of the bride, who made the trip from Brooklyn to attend the wedding.

Soil Testing

university and one of Canada's foremost soil experts, soil mechanics is an attempt to classify soils according to various types, and measure properties by tests determining strength and settlement characteristics.

"WE THINK WE have the best-equipped soil lab in Canada," stated Prof. Hardy in an interview recently. "Certainly it's the best university soil laboratory in the Dominion. U of A gives more instruction in the science of soil mechanics and foundation engineering to students than any other Canadian university," he added.

Alberta's soil mechanics laboratory employs an estimated $25,000 worth of equipment, a sum which, says Prof. Hardy, "is misleading because soils equipment is not too expensive."

Soil research is different from atomic physics where a half-million dollar outlay is required even to begin work.

During the war years the lab was revamped and expanded considerably to cope with urgent projects.

ONE OF THESE concerned the multi-million dollar Aluminum Company of Canada mines in British Guiana, largest of their kind in the world.

Bauxite, the ore of aluminum, is mined in British Guiana and shipped to the mammoth Arvida, Que., refineries. The Guiana drying and shipping plant is built on river flats, which do not offer too substantial a foundation for large buildings.

Building settlement as much as five feet, was recorded during the war, and the Alberta university soils lab was asked to "run" tests on soil samples in an attempt to permit foundations to be designed which would not be damaged by settlement of the plant.

Samples were shipped to the university, some of them flown by special transport from Guiana. About 30 or 40 samples were tested during 1942 and 1943.

THE SAMPLES WERE drilled out of the river flats and packed in airtight steel cylinders. It was the "undisturbed" soil contents of these cylinders which were tested.

Permafrost, the permanently-frozen ground of the Far North, was another wartime project, carried out for U.S. building programs. In some places in the north, subsurface ground never thaws out, even in the summer, and as a result ice accumulates in the soil.

Consequently when surface ground is removed as in highway or airfied construction, insulation is removed, the permafrost is exposed to atmospheric temperature and begins to thaw.

"The result is too much soup," explained Prof Hardy. "Buildings on such ground actually move, and airport construction conditions are made extremely difficult."

"WE RAN THE first tests of the kind ever made on permafrost, and our work is being carried on by Americans in Alaska," said the university soils expert.

Prof Hardy recently received the Keefer medal, awarded by the Engineering Institute of Canada, for a scientific paper on the results of his permafrost experiments.

Biggest program yet undertaken by the university soils laboratory and probably the largest soils research ever carried out, was begun in 1945 and is still continuing, for the federal department of transport.

The project is connected with the transport department's airfield testing scheme, and the university's part of the program consists in making laboratory tests on soil samples taken from under airfield runways.

Object of the department of transport scheme is to find out what weight of aircraft various Canadian airports can carry safely, and to secure results from which future airports could be designed for heavier planes. Airfields at Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Lethbridge, Calgary, Grande Prairie, Fort St. John, and Fort Nelson have been tested.

Edmonton's airfield was not used for testing because of the "conglomeration" of landing strip structure. Wartime expansion of the field necessitated overlapping pavement on some landing strips, a condition which could not be condoned under the testing scheme.

Two new projects have been undertaken by the university lab since war's end. One is a research program to observe building foundation conditions in the Edmonton area. This scheme is being carried out under auspices of the National Research Council, and results, says Prof. Hardy, "will be of primary interest to the rest of Canada."

Second new project is to make a survey of moisture and density conditions of Alberta highway grades. Tests are being run on soil samples from roads where the construction is proving satisfactory, and from other roads which are not standing up satisfactorily under present traffic conditions.

Imperialism

Without attempting to argue the merits or faults of the system, it may be stated as a fact that imperialism, except as it exists as a free union of free peoples, has passed out of fashion in this age. Those nations which are devoted to democracy have set their faces resolutely against the exploitation of weaker peoples by stronger ones.

Nevertheless, imperialism did flourish and did confer its benefits as well as its oppression. In its heyday, it was practiced by every powerful nation and was perfectly moral according to the concepts of that period.

Thus, the joint conquest of the Sudan by the British and Egyptian armies in 1896-98 and the establishment of a joint sovereignty there was thoroughly in accord with the morality and the spirit of those times.

This background of fact will have to be considered very carefully when the United Nations Security Council debates the demand of Egypt's prime minister that Britain be compelled to remove all her troops from Egypt and terminate her joint administration of the million-square-mile Sudan.

The British, operating under the convention of 1899 and even later agreements, notably the contract of 1946, have made the Sudan a valuable and prosperous area. Through their efforts and investments, this territory has been transformed from largely squalid desert to one of the most important cotton-producing districts in the world.

This was accomplished by British energy and genius and money. And the economic development of the country was paralleled by an equal social development. The Sudanese were educated and kept healthy.

But now Egypt demands that Britain step out so that the Sudan may be unified with Egypt. The prime minister says that Britain's failure to do this is a threat of war and incompatible with "Egypt's dignity."

There are two points to be noted. The first is that Egypt's present demand is just as highhandedly imperialistic as the conquest of 1896-98, because it has never been indicated that the Sudanese themselves desire union with Egypt.

The second point is that the United Nations are asked to allow Egypt to expropriate Britain's financial and social interest in the Sudan without compensation, a principle that does not exist in civil law.

Surely the United Nations organization does not exist to confiscate holdings that were legal if only under imperialistic concepts, and to permit jackal nations to plunder the fruits of other peoples' industry.

Democracy

That there are diseased patches in the body democratic as well as in Europe is shown in the conditions under which Negroes in Mississippi were compelled to vote in the Democratic primaries on Tuesday.

Some 6,000 Negroes, before they could vote, were required to swear that they were opposed to the federal anti-lynch laws, that they were against all federal measures designed to promote equality in the South and that they were in accord with the "time-honored and cherished traditions of the South."

This despicable compulsion in what is supposed to be a free and secret ballot is bad enough in itself. But, beyond being an obvious social and political abuse, it will have wide repercussions in international affairs.

The Russian propagandists have already used the status of the Negro in the American South in an effort to show that the United States is not fit to exercise control in any part of Europe.

This balloting in Mississippi will doubtless be played up fully by the Soviets.

They will point out that there is little difference in the conditions under which Negroes voted in Mississippi and the conditions under which Spaniards voted in Franco's recent plebiscite.

Unfortunately for the cause of democracy in Europe, they will be very close to being right.

A Wise Departure

A second group of Yugoslavs, 94 of them this time, is on its way across Canada to embark for home in Eastern Europe. A party of 300 similarly turned its back on this country in July.

The repatriation, of course, is part of the Soviet plan to discredit the western democracies. After the exodus in July, the Yugoslav departure from Canada was widely publicized throughout Europe as proof positive that life in Canada was far inferior to life in Soviet-dominated Yugoslavia.

However, without regard to the political implications behind this move, the Yugoslavs themselves are wise to leave Canada. So long as they, or representatives of any other nationality, are amenable to the persuasions of the Soviets or of any other European groups, it is far better that they should taste the delights of totalitarian life than try to adopt themselves to a democratic system for which they are obviously unfitted.

They would never be happy here. Canada would never be too happy in having them.

Indeed, these Yugoslavs set an example which members of some other races here would be exceedingly well-advised to follow.

For instance, those settlers who form themselves into isolated communities where they speak their native languages and perpetuate their native customs, would be much better off in their countries of origin without trying to set up little synthetic colonies in Canada.

The Yugoslavs, whatever their inspiration, have the courage, at least, of their convictions. They demonstrate in a practical way the truth of the fact that if foreign settlers in Canada are not prepared to become real Canadians they had much better go home.

Gipsy Smith

Gipsy Smith, world famous evangelist, is dead at the age of 87.

He was born in a gipsy tent and came to be one of the best known preachers in the world. He had visited this continent 30 times, circled the globe twice and labored in France during the First World War.

His was a life of such outstanding devotion that no tribute is too high to pay him. For he went down among the very dregs of humanity to carry the message of the Christian Faith.

And millions throughout the world will remember with gratitude and affection the inspiration brought to them by this humblest and most devoted of men.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

Government in Business

BY FRANK B. WALKER

LONDON: The extent to which Britain is now committed to state trading was shown in the list of long term food contracts made public recently. More than 20 such contracts are in force, six of them with Canada.

Mr. Strachey, Britain's Food Minister, now buys all Britain's meat, butter, cheese, eggs, sugar, cereals, oils and fats, tea, coffee and citrus fruits. He also deals in edible nut kernels, canned salmon, sardines, crab and bananas.

Canada's contribution to the state trading system — an astonishingly large contribution for a government not committed to this form of dealing—is to provide Mr. Strachey with the greater part of his wheat, much of his bacon and ham, his milk, eggs and cheese.

Denmark is the next best asset to Mr. Strachey today. Mr. Strachey deals in food dealings, with three long term contracts covering bacon, butter and eggs. New Zealand is also to provide meat, butter and cheese and a little sugar, while Ceylon offers oils and fats. The Netherlands starch and Argentina, meat.

BUT FOODSTUFFS are only part of normal business now done by the United Kingdom government. More than 50 products can be imported only by the government. They include every major import required by the United Kingdom, among them steel, timber, fruit, gasoline, timber, raw cotton, flax wood pulp for paper making, raw hides, molasses, lead zinc, pig iron and sulphur.

But even where the private importer is allowed to operate he is forced to comply with a system of licenses and priorities. Notice to Importers, No. 256, for example, announces that the Import Licencing Department of the Board of Trade is prepared to receive applications for licenses to import "limited quantities of lilac from Holland between December 14, 1947 and June 13, 1948."

"The Department is also prepared to receive applications for licences to import from Holland limited quantities of prunus tribola, cherry blossom, heleborus, snawball, poinsettia euphorbia, forsythia, anthurium and calla, between December 15, 1947 and March 31, 1948."

BUT THIS DOES not mean that any citizen can bang in his application. He must apply for a specified quantity by weight and value and you will only be considered for this business if you are a prewar importer of cut flowers from Holland who can furnish satisfactory evidence of your pre-war imports.

Having fulfilled all these requirements does not necessarily mean that you will be allowed to import. A single sentence in the notice warns that "it may not be practicable to grant licences in all cases."

EVEN AFTER materials have reached the country the heavy hand of Sir Stafford Cripps' Board of Trade still be felt.

The department makes allocations and the long process begins again. A laundry which has no uncut darning wool to repair the socks it has just mutilated must apply to Sir Stafford Cripps' before September 1 of this year it it wishes to come in on the latest allocation.

It must provide the following information:

(a) Number of darning machines used during the year 1939;

(b) Number of operatives working same;

(c) Number of darning machines now fit for use;

(d) Number of operatives available for the above;

(e) The type and amount of wool used for this purpose in 1939;

(f) Approximate annual requirements for the year commencing October 1, 1947 and corresponding coupon value.

This notice, of course, applies only to laundries using darning machines.

The Board of Trade Journal adds one further note of encouragement:

"Any applications made recently for this purpose will be diligently ed and any firm which has already approached the Board of Trade should re-apply under this scheme, giving the information requested above."

THE AVERAGE British businessman can take this in his stride, though his stride is noticeably shorter today than it was once. Day by day and month by month he fights his way through a jungle of frustration and over a mountain of paper work. He fills in forms, answers his back records, guesses wildly at his future requirements, interviews regional controllers, sees Board of Trade officials and then, if he is lucky, finds himself with a limited quantity of prunus tribola.

"There was a time," states the monthly bulletin of some British industries, "when any man could enter any shop and buy any of these things that he chose at a price which was governed by straightforward competition, that is to say, every retailer would sell his goods at the smallest possible price compatible with solvency, and the individual man or woman was at liberty to buy from the retailer to whom he would most cheaply.

"At the present time, as far as the majority of household requirements is concerned, the storekeeper has no choice in the matter of price, shop, quality or anything else."

Today, with the storekeeeprr registered, the householder registered, the wholesaler registered and the government doing the buying except for prunus tribola, life is complicated indeed.

Clouding the Issue

OTTAWA — By attempting to cloud the issue, the railways have mad an effort to discredit the evidence of Mr. R. E. Moffat, economic adviser to the Manitoba government. THE BEST ARGUMENT for this is the CPR's own argument. When the request of the counsel for Manitoba in the early part of the hearings. Mr. Moffat showed comparative gross earnings and working expenses from 1936 to 1945, and clearly demonstrated the position of the west and the west's contribution to over-all earnings of the CPR. The exhibit may also be a general answer to Mr. O'Donnell's arguments.

The striking thing about the CPR exhibit is that throughout the nine years in question the working expenses of the western lines are approximately the same as the expenses accrued by the eastern lines but eastern lines have only half the mileage of western lines. Therefore, it would be fair to state that eastern lines are twice as expensive to the railways as are the western lines.

With this point established the next step is to consider the relative earnings of these two lines.

For the four years prior to the war, 1936-1939, gross earnings on eastern lines averaged $45,000,000. Western lines averaged $79,000,000, or $14,000,000 more. Working expenses for eastern lines amounted to $58,000,000 against $61.3 million for the west's twice-as-long line. The eastern lines netted $6.2 million and the west $17.7 million. Or for each dollar spent in the east there was a return of 10.6 cents while in the west the railway made 29 cents on each dollar, or about two-and-a-half times as much.

NOR DID THE SIX war years, 1940-1945 appreciably change this picture.

In this period gross earnings of eastern lines were shown as $127.4 million; western, $156.1 million. Expenses in the eastern lines were $111.4 million to the west's $109 million. The eastern lines netted $16 million and the west $27 million. The return on each eastern lines' dollar was 14.3 cents and on the western lines' dollar, 24.7 cents.

The first full post year, 1946, bore out the results as far as the exhibit's estimates were concerned. An eastern lines' dollar earned four cents against the western lines' dollar of 11.9 cents.

This is the position of the west and nothing should be allowed to cloud the issue.

Smiles

A young girl was taken to her first football match. All the way through the game she politely praised their voices, criticizing or complimenting the two teams. Her father returned home and her father asked her which side had won. "Well," she answered brightly, "from what I could hear the 'Rotten Foulers' defeated the 'Dirty So-and-So's,' two to one."

"Yes, dear," said his wife.

"I, for instance," he continued "am ashamed of my failure to keep abreast of modern science. Take electric light, for example. I haven't the least idea how it works."

His wife gave him a patronizing look, and smiled.

"Why darling, I'm ashamed of you, too. It's simple! You just press a switch, that's all!"

The Society of Weather Forecasters halted its meteorological activities for one day and went on a picnic. A keen reporter desiring to know just how such a group would disport themselves, called upon the president of the society the next day and asked, "What happened?"

"Nothing," came the prognostication's gloomy reply. "It rained!"

Britain Feels Pinch

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

The present government of Britain is doing its best. But not even a British government headed by the angel Gabriel could immediately make ends meet in British national housekeeping.

Britain, before the war, paid for one third of what her people lived on by "invisible income." This was mostly made up of interest on overseas investments — profits from capitalistic enterprises located outside Britain — but owned by Britons. These outside assets had to be sold during the war to enable Britain to get the supplies to keep on fighting. They are gone. No government can get them back.

PHILPOTT

There are probably three or four different ways in which Britain might fit herself again into the world economy. She might do better on a new basis. But she can never again do it on the old basis.

Moreover, no matter how wise and enlightened this British government, or the next, may turn out to be, it cannot solve Britain's problems quickly.

UNDER NATIONAL sovereignty, (which should be called anarchy) each nation sets up its own laws about money and trade The people individually are not allowed to buy whatever is best and cheapest—for every nation sets up its tariff walls, licenses, quotas.

But each nation also sets up its own complicated money system. International trade is not only limited by tariff walls, and red tape at the border. It is also limited by the fact that the value of each national money fluctuates. It is the money business—this money-changing business, that is now putting the international squeeze on Britain.

Even after the huge U. S. and Canadian loans to Britain, she is short of dollars.

Britain is not selling to the dollar countries nearly as much as she is buying from them. In the long run she will either have to sell far more or buy much less.

THE BIG AMERICAN loan seemed to me to be a sugar-coated disaster for Britain. As Sir Stafford Cripps put it: "We are still bound by the Loan Agreement with America. That means we cannot choose on the basis of availability of foreign exchange — the particular country from which we shall import."

* * *

BEFORE HITLER'S war, Canada bought about twice as much from the U.S. as the U.S. bought from Canada. But we sold to Britain about twice as much as we bought back from her.

We used our favorable balance with Britain to pay off our deficit on the trade with the U.S.

Now our trade with Britain is even more lopsided. But we cannot use our surplus on trade with Britain to pay off our yearly deficits to the U.S.—because there is now no demand for British money in the American money market.

IF WE WERE really civilized, Britain and the United States and Canada would all have one money —which could be used anywhere. But there is no sign that we are near such an enlightened era.

But even if Britain's hand were freed from the restrictions of the American loans, Canada could say to Britain: "we will sell you as much as you want to buy from us—your credit is good one hundred per cent."

We could balance our accounts over each few years by what Britain needs most—guaranteed customers.

Or we could transfer a few million Britons to Canada.

WHEAT

Editor, Bulletin—I observe the following statement in the newspaper: "Speaking in a CP story to C. W. McNamara, assistant chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board: 'All I can say is that I would be prepared to settle for a (wheat) crop in these Prairie Provinces of 400,000,000 bushels the same quantity as was produced last year and I am very much afraid that the figure may be as low as 350,000,000 bushels."

Somehow the above rather disappointing view — at the expert level and plus the overall plan — reminded me of the following restraining paragraph in your own editorial columns almost three months back, dealing with Canada's wheat obligations: "We are not, as a people, grabbing more than our share or holding back more than enough for home use. In the matter of grain we are in fact going to some degree on the crop that is now being sown. Should it not turn out well, bread may be scarce next winter in this great wheat growing country...."

The weak spot in this whole cereal scene is right there — "the perfectly empty bins" — and from time to time the Bulletin has accented the fact of the vanished stockpile of the bread, grain, and properly so, in this reader's opinion. The so-called 'wheat surplus' was a national headache, but not the serious student of contemporary affairs knows that the 580,000,000 bushels of 'in store' Canada at July 31, 1945, literally saved millions of human lives around this war-torn world, before, during and the present hour!

Today, as your editorial states, we are dangerously poised and dependent upon current production, which means the weatherman's plans from week to week. In the circumstances, I am not surprised that one of the central recommendations of the Preparatory Commission on World Food Organization (FAO) of the United Nations, calls for "the creation of a Famine Reserve", particularly of bread grains and rice, "as soon as the supply position permits."

FOR WHITENING FLOUR

Editor, Bulletin: On Dec. 14, 1946, Sir Edward Mellanby, secretary of the British Medical Research Council, published in the "British Medical Journal" the findings of his experiments on the use of nitrogen trichloride as a bleaching agent for whitening flour.

In his report, Sir Edward pointed out, "It is clear that investigations must now be made to see whether human beings are affected by bread made from flour improved by NCL3."

It appears that the agene process which whitens the flour and keeps it from spoiling also makes it unfit for dogs to eat because it gives them fits. In fact a group at Wisconsin had no difficulty at all in repeating the Mellanby experiments, and also were able to give one dog fits in a week. And the brain waves of the hysterical agene-poisoned canine were very like those found in human epilepsy.

I would like to know to what extent this agene process is used in Canada, and if at all, whether or not any tests have been taken by any agency to determine in Canada whether or not the process is dangerous to the community.

TEACHING HISTORY

Editor, Bulletin: A correspondent gives only one of two reasons for the world chaotic condition. He deals only with feminism, the result of corruption and exploitation of the masses in Russia before the revolution, and which has spread to other countries as a result of similar conditions. The other reason is the dictatorship of International Jewry which has inherited totalitarian world slave state. He truly says that Communism has its counterpart in Nazism and in international finance. Both lead to war and "universal insanity," as a result of not exposing publicly the truth as to the cause and the common goals of world power. Both are represented in the "Midsummer Night's Dream" plus the overall plan reminded me of the following restraining paragraph in your own editorial columns almost three months back, dealing with Canada's wheat obligations: "We are not, as a people, grabbing more than our share or holding back more than enough for home use. CLARITY IN LANGUAGE

Editor, Bulletin—Reference is made, and most properly, to the current misuse of basic words, among others, to that of the word freedom. It lapsed from use in recent years that we need clarification of the meaning of that word. Less of the looseness of liberty, as there seems to be two ideas expressed promiscuously by both words confusingly.

By liberty I mean absence of external compulsion. By freedom I mean a life according to truth, as Jesus said. Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.

For example, the people of India are to have liberty henceforth, there being no external compulsion. But if they are to be free they must be according to truth, that is, shall we say, righteously, sanely, co-operatively. Whoever lives in error is the slave of that error, not a free man. He may have liberty.

Three-Alarm Fire Razes East Block

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Two firemen were injured, a district fire chief narrowly escaped death from electrocution and damage tentatively estimated at $250,000 was caused late Tuesday when a three-alarm fire blazed through the Butterworth building in downtown Ottawa, putting at least six businesses out of operation.

The fire started when a pot of grease boiled over on the stove in the kitchen of the Tea Garden restaurant. Flames quickly shot up a flue and broke through the roof of the three-storey building at Sparks and O'Connor streets and almost every piece of fire equipment in the city was called to the scene.

Two employes of the restaurant, Jim Kay and Pat Deley, working in the basement when the blaze broke out, were rescued by cafe proprietor Peter Peters and Roger Beaudin, counterman, who pulled them through a basement window opening on to Sparks Street as flames blocked the basement stairs.

District Fire Chief Carl Dunning was knocked unconscious when, clearing debris in the dark of the flame-swept restaurant, he grasped a live wire believed carrying 230 volts. Two of his crew pulled him from the clinging wire.

Remove Ceilings Cast Scrap Iron

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)— The prices board announced last night that price ceilings on cast iron scrap will be removed, effective Wednesday, in an effort to speed up the seasonal collection and delivery of cast iron scrap, an important material used by foundries in the production of castings and soil pipe. The board emphasized that the move relates to cast iron scrap only and all types of steel, scrap under price control.

Miners Wear Pants For Hirohito Visit

YUMOTO, Japan, Aug. 6.—(AP) —Perspiring freely, Emperor Hirohito descended 3,500 feet into the hot workings of the Joban coal coal mine yesterday and exhorted the miners to greater output. The miners usually wear only G-Strings while laboring in the intensely hot shafts but they donned shorts in deference to their visitor.

Chinese Winner Of George Medal

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(Reuters)—A Hong Kong boarding house employe, Cheung On, who swam out to a blazing ship in Hong Kong harbor and rescued nine people, has been rewarded with the George Medal, the London Gazette announced yesterday.

"I've never been so insulated in all my life, Madam. I begin MY day with super-delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes!"

"Well lands sakes! You too! deems like everybody's gotta have Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes or they figure they don't start the day right."

"Lady, that's because they're so deliciously malty-rich, so temptingly honey-golden, so delectably crisp, so . . .

"I know, I know, and they supply carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials. All because they're made of two sun-ripened Canadian grains—wheat and malted barley — skillfully blended, baked and then toasted."

"And they're easy to digest, too. Go pour me a big economy package. And take a look at those recipes for cookies and other good things made with Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes. I'll be back this way later."

Bridge

By William McKenney

There are numerous so-called rules on bridge. Such as: don't lead away from a king; lead the king from the ace-king; cover an honor with an honor; second hand low; the play of a low card and then a higher card shows no interest in that suit; the play of a high card and then a lower one is called the echo and asks for a continuation.

More often than not, according to another rule, we split our honors. All of these rules, however, must be broken at times.

Opening—♠9 6

Today's hand was given to me by Tobias Stone of New York, who recently became Life Master No. 85, fulfilling my predictions in this column that he would be listed among the top-ranking players of the country.

When discussing a hand, Stone has a very rapid style all his own. You can picture this youngster who knows he is good, pointing out to another expert the mistake on this hand. He was criticizing the expert for having split his heart honors.

The opening club lead was won in dummy with the queen, and Stone then took two rounds of spades, dropping West's queen. Now he led a small heart and West split his honors. Stone won in dummy with the king and cashed the ace and king of clubs, discarding the five card deuce of diamond from his own hand.

He ruffed a club and then played all of his trumps. This left him with the ace-ten of hearts and king of diamonds, while West had the queen and five of hearts and ace of diamonds.

Stone led the king of diamonds, forcing West to win, and of course West had to lead from his queen-five of hearts into Stone's ace-ten.

In describing West's mistake, Stone said, "If I intend to finesse the nine of hearts, there was nothing you could do about it; but why did you assume that I was going to finesse the nine of hearts? That's where you made your mistake."

I think we will have to agree with Stone.

Cigarette Girl Makes Charge

Claim of Paternity Denied By Publicist

By LEO TURNER

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(BUP)—Patricia Miles, 25, blonde night-club cigarette girl, asked Johnny Meyer, 41, party-loving press agent, today to put her six-months-old baby on his expense account.

Miss Miles said she lighted a cigar for Meyer on one of his night club parties, and kept the flame alive three times a week when he was in New York. Meyer left and never returned, she said, when his employer, Howard Hughes, cracked up in an experimental bomber last year.

In Washington, Meyer hotly denied the paternity charge or that he was an after-dawn lover.

"Hell, she worked until 5 a.m., he said. "She's just another tomato trying to get her name in the papers. I never took her out in my life."

Elvin I. Unterman, attorney for Miss Miles, said a warrant for the plump, balding publicity agent was issued last Friday by Justice Frederick L. Hackenburg after a closed hearing on the paternity charge.

However, no attempt was made to arrest Meyer at La Guardia field Friday on his much-publicized arrival from Paris en route to Washington.

Meyer, in Washington to testify before the Senate war investigating committee headed by Senator Owen Brewster (Rep.-Me.), said the first he knew of the affair was when he read of it in a newspaper.

"Do you suppose the Brewster committee could be trying to frame me?" he asked.

The case shaped up like this:

A birth certificate on file with the board of health said that Douglas Meyer was born at 3.45 a.m., Feb. 2, to Miss Miles at the Park West hospital. It named "John Meyer, Los Angeles, agent in the motion picture industry," as the child's father.

Miss Miles said she kept the baby in an apartment she shares with her parents and three brothers and supported it selling cigarettes at Billy's Gay Nineties. She said she had peddled smokes at the Stork Club, El Morocco and Club 18, and had posed for magazine covers before she became an unwanted mother.

Her attorney, Unterman, said she signed a statement declaring Meyer was not the father of her child in return for $1,500.

The Raising of Thoroughbreds Is Becoming an Important Industry in This Area as These Pictures From Gloverdale Stock Farm Amply Demonstrate

Although the breeding of racing stock may not have reached the proportions in the Edmonton area that it has in many other parts of Canada, yet it is becoming more important from year to year. The Edmonton District Thoroughbred Society, an organization which dates back more than three decades, continues to encourage and support the raising of thoroughbreds in the Province of Alberta. The above pictures were taken at the farm of J. S. Glover, president of the society and it is at Gloverdale Stock Farm that Shoeless Joe, the society's most recently acquired sire, is quartered. Upper left is King Gordon, a Hi Queen yearling sired by Amsterdam. The two faces are yearlings, Dutch Guide (by Amsterdam out of Guidance) and Amster Jewell (Marie Somers and Amsterdam). On the right, President J. S. Glover of Edmonton is holding Dutch Velvet, by Amsterdam, yearling out of Sheiah Somers and a full sister to Dutch Beauty, who ran in the recent Edmonton Exhibition meeting, and is back again for the races which open next Saturday afternoon. Lower left is Geggie H, a full sister to the well known Lorelie D. The two youngsters may not be as much concerned with racing at the moment as their half brother Ideal Joe, just returned from Regina, but they displayed considerable interest in the camera. On the left is a filly sucker standing by her mother Marie Somers, and next, also un-named as yet and also sired by Shoeless Joe, is Miss Somerset's colt. The inquisitive head peering through a hole in the fence, lower right, is of King Gordon.

Eskimos Bunch Hits To Defeat Cubs 5-2

Four in Fourth Off Bass Prove Payoff Blows

Eskimos bunched the four hits they collected off Johnny Bass and the quartet runs which resulted paved the way for a 5-2 victory off Cubs in Tuesday night's Big Four Baseball League game at Renfrew Park.

Three of the four blows were good for two bases and all came in succession, the flurry getting underway when Doug Stewart started off the fourth frame with a single to centre.

BILL PRICE followed with a sharp double just inside the third base line and Ralph Morgan matched Bill's effort with almost a duplicate. Both Stewart and Price scored on Morgan's hit and Ralph galloped home when Jack McGill planted another double in left field.

Frank Gonzales' infield out and Doug Stevenson's long fly to center sent McGill home.

Leo Sullivan went in to pitch for Cubs in the fifth and Dave Brockie's double and McGill's single added the fifth Eskimo tally.

THE CUBS' run in the third came from Tony Chulia's single, a stolen base and Don Lippincott's hit to left field. A double by Doug Lane in the seventh ahead of Leo Sullivan's single also was good for one counter in the seventh.

Tommy Brant pitched for the Eskimos and shut the Cubs off with five hits until the last of the ninth. With one out Lane singled and Army Martin got a life on Garret's error.

Manager Laurel Harney, (a left hand hitter) then went into bat for Chvechok and Eskimo strategy countered with a switch to Lefty Beller, Harney fouled the first pitch and then called in Johnny Gray (a right hand hitter) to bat for him.

MANAGER CHUCK Henderson forthwith sent in Forrest Hunter, a right hand pitcher. Gray walked, filling the bases, but Sullivan hit into a double play—Hunter to Stevenson to Morgan—to end the game.

A protest has been filed by Cubs on the grounds that Section 37 of Baseball Rules had been violated. Sub-section 4 reads: "In the event of the pitcher being taken from his pitching position by either the manager or captain, the player substituted for him shall continue to pitch until the batsman then at bat has either been put out or has reached first base, or the side has been retired."

Junior Tennis Star Ousts Mrs. Eustace

CALGARY, Aug. 6.—(CP)—First major upset of the Alberta Tennis tournament occurred at Glencoe Club courts Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Marjorie Eustace, defending titleholder, was eliminated in the ladies open singles by Miss Pat Lowe, promising junior net star from Ottawa, 3-6; 6-4; 6-4.

The first set was taken by Mrs. Eustace in fairly easy style as a result of her forceful placement shots. From this point on it was a case of Miss Lowe's tremendous power to retrieve that finally wore her opponent down and forced her to resort to a careful type of game, which just suited the Ottawa youngster.

MRS. EUSTACE has been holder of the provincial title nine times since first winning it as a junior.

Rain interrupted the play in the middle of the 4 p.m. draw and it was impossible to start any more matches as the courts were under water.

In other games played, competitors came through as expected although Blyth and Thorburn of Edmonton gave McLaws and Wallace of Calgary a scare in the men's doubles by winning the second set. Another near upset occurred in the mixed doubles when Blyth and Forrester of Edmonton gave Wallace and Taylor, of Calgary a stiff battle before bowing 6-2 and 9-7.

The Edmonton and District Soccer Association will hold a meeting in the Memorial Hall on Friday, Aug. 8 at 8 p.m.

Heavy Rains Curb Bowling At Calgary

CALGARY, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Hit by heavy rain that reached almost deluge proportions on greens in some parts of the city, Alberta Lawn Bowling Association championship tourney was unable to reach definite decisions in doubles play Tuesday as play was suspended with matches about four-fifths completed.

In No. 1 group, only section to get through all its games, F. Pritchard of Edmonton Garneau, Will Pearson of Calgary Army and Navy, and J. Moors, Calgary club, finished even with four wins and one loss each with Pearson drawing a bye into the extra playoff made necessary. It will be played later in the week.

IN NO. 2 section, A. Munro of Calgary Legion and Stan Tucker, A and N, were setting the pace with three victories each when rain halted play. George Rickson of Calgary Bow Valley had four straight triumphs when the weatherman hit No. 3 section at the Army and Navy greens, and Ernie Almond of A and N and Sam Lee, Edmonton Patricias, were leading with the same record at Bow Valley.

On the Legion greens, R. Denim of Edmonton Patricias was leader when play was suspended with three wins in a row, and in the last section at Inglewood Bill McDonald of the same Edmonton club was out in front with four victories in as many games.

Haywards Triumph With Late Rally

A pair of nip and tuck contests featured the double billing in the Men's Intermediate Fastball League at West Kingsway last evening. CNR battled Union Tractors to an 8-8 stalemate, and Haywards slipped home ahead of Legion 3B by a 7-6 margin.

In the first tussle each team produced one six-run inning. The trainmen went for a half dozen tallies in the second stanza, while the Tractor crew retaliated with a like number in the fourth frame.

Three runs in the seventh and final canto allowed Haywards to defeat the Legion brigade. Craig powdered a home run for Haywards in the sixth with one mate aboard. Dilaney connected for a Legion triple with one on in the fourth.

FLORENCE SEAL hurled all four games for the winners, allowing a total of only 19 hits. A highlight of the series was the hitting performance of South Side's Audrey Wellman, who pounded out five hits in five trips to the plate against Strome Legionettes. Mary Gallon, Stella Nocl and Millie Brown were also outstanding hitters for the Edmonton club.

APPROXIMATELY 1,500 fans attended each day's play.

Manville defeated South Side 4-2 in the first game, nosed out Strome 3-2 in the second, crushed Strome 14-0 in the third and shaded South Side 6-4 in the fourth. South Side defeated Strome 5-4 and 8-1.

Moose Wallop Dainty Cakes

South Side Athletics Enter Alberta Finals

South Side Athletics galloped into the provincial junior men's fastball finals when they won the northern crown by whipping West Jasper Place 17-6 at Kingsway last night. The triumph gave the Scona crew a margin of two straight over their city rivals, and earned them the right to play Calgary Legion in Calgary this weekend in the first game of the Alberta finals.

SOUTH SIDE pasted Jasper Place hurling for 15 safeties and scored runs in every frame but two. They grabbed a 6-1 lead in the first three innings and then proceeded to turn the game into a rout with three in the fifth and a half-dozen in the sixth.

May paced the South Side offensive with two singles and a pair of triples in five trips. Ken Johannsen chipped in with three singles.

The second half of the twin bill saw Moose outslug Dainty Cakes 18-16 in a senior men's game. A total of 34 hits went into the record book, with 20 of them manufactured by Eddie Goyan's Moosemen.

Moose had one big inning—the fourth—when they chased seven runs across the platter. It was their ball game after that.

Brown, Ellis, Eckert, and Meyers each whacked out three hits for the winners, while Sammy Sheckter led his team with a quartet of baseknocks.

Loraine Fowler Sets Pace Again

Municipal Club's Loraine Fowler set the pace for the second straight week in the series of medal rounds which will help to decide Northern Alberta's two representatives on the provincial team in the Canadian championship.

Loraine, only 18 years-of-age and probably the longest hitter among Edmonton's fair sex, carved out a neat 92 over the Mayfair course yesterday. She scored 47 going out and came home in 45 to lead Mrs. Robinson by four strokes.

MRS. TOMMY VICKERS was third with an even 100, and Alice Fowler, Loraine's younger sister, scored 102.

The course was exceptionally slow, due to the heavy rains.

The next of the four rounds will be played at the Country Club next week.

Cards Whittle Lead As Braves Rush Bums

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Things are looking up in the National League—for the second place St. Louis Cardinals, that is, not the leading Brooklyn Dodgers. After losing all of a three-game series to Chicago Cubs, the Dodgers haven't been able to untrack themselves and last night—although they outhit Boston nine to five—they bowed to the Braves 4-2.

Meanwhile the Cards took an 8-2 decision from Chicago in a day game and as a result the Brooklyn lead over St. Louis was cut to only six games.

Big stumbling block for the Dodgers was Johnny Sain who scattered what hits he did allow to turn in his 15th victory against seven defeats. Brooklyn scoring was confined to the third inning when they bunched three of their hits. The Braves got all their hits off starter and loser Hal Gregg who was lifted in favor of Hank Behrman in the sixth.

AT CHICAGO, a home run by Del Rice with the bases loaded and another by Whitey Kurowski escorted Harry Brecheen and the Cardinals to their victory. Brecheen carefully distributed 11 hits while the Cards pounded three Cub pitchers for 14 hits to sweep the two-game series.

In other National League contests, Johnny Mize blasted his 33rd and 34th home runs of the season to pace New York Giants to a 8-2 victory over Philadelphia Phillies as Dave Koslo outpitched the Phils on three hits and Pittsburgh Pirates pumped out four Cincinnati hurlers for 11 hits and 10 runs to gain a 12-4 victory.

Mize reached starting and losing pitcher Rix Donnelly for his first homer of the game in the sixth inning and Willard Marshall followed with his 28th circuit drive to enable the Giants to snap a 2-2 tie. Mize belted his second roundtripper in the eighth off relief pitcher Schoolboy Rowe.

THE AMERICAN League leaders, New York Yankees, continue to roll on with a big margin and last night they made it 14 games over the second-place Boston Red Sox as the Yanks downed Philadelphia Athletics 8-2 while Boston dropped a 3-1 encounter to Washington Senators.

The Yanks drove in four runs in the ninth inning for their victory. The uprising brought the Bombers their 14th victory after be took over from Floyd Bevins after six innings.

At Washington, Dave Ferriss limited the senators to five hits but his wildness cost Boston the game. Ferriss walked seven and hit two batters in losing to Walt Masterson who allowed seven hits.

Prudhams, SEBM Win Final Games

President Bill Runge rang down the curtain on league play in his South Side intermediate fastball loop at the South Side Athletic Grounds last evening. Prudhams edged CVT 3-2 in the first game and South Edmonton Business Men shellacked Eagle's Lodge 11-1 in the nightcap.

Prudhams had to score three runs in the last inning to whip the Vocational Training nine. Hits by Locken, Weeks and pinch-hitter Ernie Weaver in the lucky seventh combined with an error to salt it away for the lumber squad.

THE BUSINESS Men were never in trouble against Eagles. They were held to a 1-1 count until the fifth when they erupted for a quartet of tallies and the ball game.

Lawrence Kadatz wielded the big bat for the winners, collecting two doubles and a home run in four trips.

McCormick's Homer Paces Policemen

The Police Department clipped Utilities 8-7 at Clarke Stadium last night to win their semifinal round in the Civic Fastball League in two straight.

A three-run splurge in the seventh stanza won it all for the custodians of the law. Pitcher Art McCormick won his own game in the frame by blasting out a four-base smash with two mates aboard.

Quebec Forges Ahead In Cricket Tourney

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP)—British Columbia defeated Ontario, and Quebec defeated Ontario and Quebec each had one victory and one defeat, and the Prairies eleven trailed with two defeats.

In yesterday's matches Ontario scored 153, all out, and British Columbia replied with 155 for four wickets. This game was at Upper Canada College. At Armour Heights, the Prairies was all out for 154, and Quebec amassed 298 for eight wickets, declared.

DISPLAYING a superb hitting style W. Mahabir, youthful West Indian playing for Quebec against the Prairie eleven, scored a brilliant century as Quebec scored a sound victory. Batting for two and a half hours, Mahabir punished all the Prairie bowlers and with his partner D. Plumbley put on what was believed to be a record Canadian eighth - wicket partnership of 157. Of this Mahabir scored 115 not out, and Plumbley had 42 not out.

Best stand for the Prairies was the 44 scored by P. Snell, who hit lusty boundaries off the fast bowling of H. Padmore. I. Clark and E. Roberts with Snell had the Prairie hopes riding high with their forceful hitting, when a brilliant catch by E. Jemmott at Coverpoint dismissed Snell.

THE QUEBEC bowling was fairly even, while R. Turnbull with four wickets for 44 runs was most effective of the Prairie bowlers.

At Upper Canada College the accurate bowling and fielding of the British Columbia team held the Ontario squad to 153 of which Alan Percival obtained 65. He was the only Ontario batsman who really mastered the exact bowling. P. Hobson, who had rolled up 80 runs for British Columbia Monday against the Prairies Tuesday piled up 73 against the Ontario bowlers.

Marshall, with three wickets for 19, was most damaging of the British Columbia bowlers.

Four Perfects Made at Traps

Four marksmen rang up 25's at traps, but none of the 75 who turned out for the Edmonton Gun Club shoot last night could achieve perfects at skeet, or doubles. A chilly, tricky cross-wind was largely responsible.

Following are the scores:

Traps—W. Hoadley, W. Lothian, Bill Davis, 25's; A. C. Anderson 24, F. Petherbridge 23, Dr. Archibald 23, George Dame 21, G. Rourke 21, Dr. Hedveaux 20, Pat St. Peter 20, C. Craddock 20.

Doubles—G. Dame 22, Pat St. Peter 19, W. Hoadley 19, A. C. Anderson 19.

Skeet—Al MacDougall 24, Buster Brown 23, Bob Turner 23, D. Gaucher 23, C. Craddock 22, J. Elliott 21, Dr. Hervieux 20.

Beau Brummell of the Boulevards!

A BUICK buyer is practically that, of course, the minute he takes over any new 1947 Buick. Never before has any automobile so completely won the country by its beauty—so clearly defined the shape of cars to come.

But to really take the stage and hold it—to cut a dashing figure in the smartest of smart company—people everywhere are setting their sights on this bold beauty here.

It is without question the most exciting version of Canada's most wanted car.

It's wanted for the freedom one feels when its handy control swings back the top—and the sky becomes your roof and the birds your travel mates.

It's wanted for the lift and surge of its satiny straight-eight Fireball power plant, master of every grade and hill, monarch of the farthest horizon.

It's wanted for bigness, and the deep comfort of low-set, cushiony seats—wanted for the floating ease of soft all-coil springing, and the sure-footed stride of a car that's big enough and brawny enough for its job.

It's wanted for styling that already has set the pattern for years to come—it's wanted for fun, for adventure, and for year-round, all-round full family use.

So many people want Buick, and only Buick, that the demand continues far ahead of our ability to deliver. But this big, brawny beauty deserves your last ounce of patience . . . so while you wait, depend on your Buick Dealer's expert service to keep your present car on the road.

A FINGER TOUCH—and the door windows run up or down automatically. Other handy controls raise or lower the top and adjust the front seat.

U.S. Man Claims Baronet's Title

LONDON, Aug. 6. (CP)—Search for the heir to the sixth baronetcy of Lurran, Fermanagh, started by Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage, now has brought a claim from Robert Hardinge of Denver, Colo.

Hankinson said the claim had resulted from a Canadian Press story last June reporting the search for the missing heir who would succeed Sir Charles Hardinge, the fifth baronet, now living in London.

"There is every indication that this Mr. Hardinge is the rightful heir," Hankinson said, "since he offers proof that he is the son of Edmund Cecil Hardinge who emmigrated to Canada from England in 1890."

The cable from Denver read: "In response to search by Debrett's Peerage as reported by The Canadian Press, I am Robert Hardinge, son of Edmund Cecil Hardinge. Papers establishing identity following."

Hankinson said further inquiries would be made as soon as the papers are received.

Wife Departs After "Con" Men Fleece Victim

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Louis Bodis of Fort Erie, who lost $900 in confidence men here last week, said last night that he had returned to his home to find that his wife had left. "It was just a case of the cowboy going to the big city. I don't blame her a bit for leaving me," he said. Bodis did not know where his wife had gone.

In police court here Tuesday John Meagher, 21, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was remanded to Aug. 11 on a charge of theft. Police stated that $400 had been recovered from Meagher, the numbers on the bills corresponding to the currency which was part of the amount Bodis lost here when he engaged in a bet with two strangers as to who had the most money on their persons.

Police tried to cheer the sorrowful Bodis with the suggestion: "When it's all over you can have a second honeymoon."

Did Not Force Film Cancellation

Cancellation of the Russian-produced moving picture "Marusia" billed to appear over the week-end at a city theatre was not forced by decision of the Alberta film censor board, P. J. A. Fleming, head of the censor board said Monday.

He explained that two prints of the picture were in Canada, only one of which had been passed by the Alberta censors. The one which did not bear the official stamp of approval from the local censors was the one for which the local manager had contracted. Had he arranged for the approved version, no obstacle would have been placed on the exhibition.

"It's a very ordinary picture," Mr. Fleming said, "If it's intended as propaganda—I would say it would be good propaganda for Canada."

Start Fund Help District Family

A fund to assist the Parris family of the Wolfe Creek district was started Tuesday by the Montgomery Branch of the Canadian Legion. One member of the family was killed and two others injured when they were trapped by a CNR freight train from the McLeod River railway bridge, just east of Edson on July 30.

All members of the family, except one boy, are under hospital care. The father, an ex-service man has been in the convalescent home at Government House in Edmonton for some time.

The mother, Mrs. Hilda Parris, 53 years old, lost part of her left foot, fractured ribs, and suffered from internal injuries. Harold, 16-year-old son, lost his left foot, and suffered from severe shock. It is reported that he is recovering in the Edson Hospital.

Waverly Parris, 13-year-old, was killed in the tragedy.

In the first meeting of the drive for funds, officials in charge report that $90 has been acknowledged. A $50 donation from Mike's News Agency made up the bulk of the Tuesday morning total.

They outwitted guards and burst into their classrooms each day at 10 a.m.

FAMOUS CHINESE DYNASTIES

Before China became a republic in 1912, she had been ruled mostly by dynasties for thousands of years. A previous article told of the earliest dynasties about which we know very much—the Chow (approximately 1100 B.C. to 255 B.C.) and the Tsin or Ch'in dynasty, which began in 255 B.C.

Then came the Han dynasty (206 B.C. to 220 A.D.). During this period, Buddhism was brought to China from India. Trade was fostered. Camel caravans made regular trips westward into central Asia. They carried Chinese silks, iron and other products, which found their way (partly by sea) as far as Home—and products of Greece and Rome were brought back.

Kublai Khan and retinue going forth to battle. After completing the Mongol conquest of China, he became the first emperor in the Mongol dynasty and was a most brilliant ruler.

After the Han dynasty, there was a long period of disunion. Then came the Sui dynasty (589 to 618) and the great and wonderful Tang dynasty (618 to 907). In the Tang era, China became the most progressive and the strongest country in the world. Literature flourished. Painting flowered into distinction, and to-day paintings from the Tang dynasty are cherished among the world's great treasures. Paper had been invented in the Han era. Now it became even more important, because books began to be printed from type.

Following the Tang, there was another period of restlessness, until 960, when the Sung, or T'sung, dynasty began. It lasted until 1280.

Early in the 13th century, the Mongols gained more and more power on the borders of central Asia, and in the north of China. The Mongol general, Jenghiz Khan, the "Greatest of the Great," flashed over western Asia and into China's borders, and ruled over an empire stretching from the China Sea to Russia. The Sung empire was divided with the Mongols.

Finally Jenghiz Khan's grandson, Kublai Khan, completed the conquest of China. His realm extended over a large part of Asia and a wide area in Europe. He was the first emperor in the Mongol dynasty (1280 to 1368), one of the most brilliant rulers the world has ever known. To the court of Kublai Khan came the boy from Venice, Marco Polo, the first European to get a passing view of the wonders of China.

The Mongol dynasty declined after Kublai's death. Rebellions, murder, misgovernment and other troubles caused discontent. In 1368, the Mongol dynasty came to an end, and the Ming dynasty began. This was a purely Chinese government. The foreign Mongols had been driven back across the Great Wall, and Mongolia became a province of China.

The Ming dynasty gave China 300 years of prosperity and advancement. Beautiful porcelain, the envy of Europe, was made. Peking was built—that is, many of the handsome temples and palaces that make the city even to-day an architectural wonder, were erected by the Ming emperors.

Meanwhile, the Manchus, descendants of old Tartar enemies of China, had settled in Manchuria and made increasingly successful attacks on the empire. In 1644, the Ming dynasty was succeeded by a Manchu line of rulers. Manchu became the official language of the court. The Chinese men were ordered to wear their hair in a queue, or pigtail, as a sign of subjection to the Manchus. Later the pigtail was willingly worn in token of loyalty to the Manchu line.

This dynasty lasted until 1912, when it was swept aside by revolution, and China became a republic.

Nightmare Road

From the time we actualy got going on the Alaska Highway and right up until the other day we've had that feeling a person has when he gets sharp little pains in a back tooth and realizes he has an inevitable appointment with the dentist.

Our sharp little pains were the memory of the road between Edmonton and Dawson Creek. I told you of travelling north on that road adrift in a sea of mud.

Well, south-bound this time, we had our return engagement with it. The road won again.

The story yesterday's drive southward through Alberta is one I'd rather just forget. But it is a necessary part of our report on the route to Alaska. To get to the highway you must travel that road. And it is the worst road in the world.

I described this road eloquently and in complete, running commentary during our 16 hours on it Almost none of the description will bear repeating in a family newspaper.

As the Canadian gateway to the north country it is a national disgrace and, more than that, a highly dangerous wagon trail that should be closed to automobile traffic to prevent loss of life.

There is an expensive and tedious alternative. You may ship your car by rail from Edmonton to Dawson Creek. But, if we are to be taken as typical travellers, you never find that out until the damage is done. What's more, if there's to be any encouragement at all in developing the north country as a tourist land for motorists the condition of that road is a major factor.

Certain people in Edmonton assure us that it is being readied for next year. We saw only haphazard repair work going and coming and, of that, very little but temporary patching.

Everything Bad

If an automobile company decided to build a road that would give a car every conceivable brutal test it could be no grimmer than this nightmare highway.

We wallowed through miles of dust, pot holes that shook the car from bumper to bumper, ancient wooden bridge with lumber silver-grey from age and with jagged ends pointed like spears at the tires, loose earth and gravel and, over one stretch of five miles, a roadway consisting of sod tossed up from the fields alongside.

Then we came to the mud, that particular kind of brown slime that makes so many north country roads impassable in wet weather. For nearly six hours we slithered along in a single pair of ruts To pass an oncoming vehicle you swing your car to the no man's land at the side of the road and pray that your momentum will swing you back again into the tracks.

We passed three trucks that hadn't made it. Two were lying in ditches on their sides and the third was on its back, incongruously buried in bushes. The driver had been lucky enough to walk away with nothing more than a broken arm.

At one point a new California sedan was lying in mud off the side of the road. As we slithered by (you can't risk stopping) we saw that the driver, an elderly man, was the color of old ashes and his lips were working.

If you multiply this sad gent by the thousands of Americans coming this way, you get some mighty unfavorable publicity for Canada as a tourist land.

That Bulldozer

Our own downfall occurred almost within sight of the Edmonton suburbs. In a particularly mean section of mud a huge bus came wallowing toward us. The driver swung the wheel to slurp around us in the approved manner. The bus did not respond. Its front end was okay, but the rear came crab-wise along in the ruts. I clamped on the brakes and shouted, "Abandon ship."

Brown Eyes led the way. I followed after her. We landed in mud up to our knees. The bus itself had stopped an inch from the front of our car. In the windows the faces of the passengers were wreathed in happy smiles. It was funny, all right, but we weren't laughing. In our naivete, we'd put on our "city" clothes for the entry into Edmonton.

The bus managed to get by and went plowing off, but our car was hopelessly stuck in the glue, just as it had been on the way north.

In a half-hour a big yellow bulldozer came up and the driver put down to look over the situation. He finally proposed that he give us "a bit of a shove" to get us back in the ruts. I am sorry to say I told him to go ahead.

Today the car is in a body workshop having its rear end molded back into shape and the mud chiseled from it. And so the trip has ended on an unpleasant and expensive note, just as it began.

Exciting Moment in Memorable Sailboat Race at Seba Beach

One of the most exciting regattas ever held at Seba Beach took place over the Edmonton civic holiday week-end. There were boat races and other events, on Sunday and Monday. Above is shown a tense moment during the memorable sailboat race on Sunday, which furnished thrills aplenty for the large crowd of spectators. The camera caught the boats skippered by Sid Gosling, left, and Frank H. McCarthy, right, as they were almost abreast at a crucial point in the race. Mr. McCarthy was returned the winner. The next day, Mr. Gosling's daughter, Mrs. Madge Keen, captured another sailboat event.

City Probes Canteens

Advent of mobile canteens selling hot dogs, soft drinks and ice cream on city streets, is being considered by the city commissioners with a view to by-law changes governing their operations.

Complaints have been received by the commissioners from concessionaires operating from fixed locations in city parks that the mobile canteens are materially affecting their business.

It is the practice of the operators of the mobile canteens to establish their stands at the entrances to the city parks, and thus get the benefit of the traffic to and from the parks.

A suggestion has been made to the commissioners that by-law changes be made for next year, which will prohibit the canteens from locating within half-a-mile of any city park, in which a concession has been granted, and that the operators be asked to co-operate with the civic authorities during the remainder of the year in complying with any tentative regulations adopted.

The commissioners are also taking under advisement a by-law amendment which would designate the locations at which mobile canteens could operate, with appeal to the commissioners for special permission to operate outside these locations on special occasions.

Funeral Is Held For City Old-Timer

A funeral service was held this afternoon for Arthur Giles Barton, 11944 77 street, who died Monday. He was 69 years old. Well known in Edmonton, he had resided here for 41 years.

Born in Leicester, England, Mr. Barton came to Canada in 1906 and to Edmonton in 1906. He was engaged in x-ray work for many years but was forced to leave due to ill-health.

From 1932 until 1940 he was manager of Louis Trudel Furs Ltd.

During the First World War from 1940 to 1942 he worked as guard at No. 2 Air Observer School in the city and from 1942 to 1945 as guard at the American Air base.

There are no survivors. Howard and McBride were in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Edmonton Cemetery.

Leaving for South To Review Dispute

To review the circumstances surrounding the banning of a Lethbridge newspaperman from magistrate's courtroom by Magistrate Beaumont of Lethbridge, A. M. Wilson, deputy attorney-general is expected to leave Edmonton for the southern city by airplane Wednesday evening.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that so far only incomplete reports of the incident had been received at the Edmonton office and he was flying south in an effort to sift out all the facts. He emphasized that he had no intention of taking any action in behalf of the department.

He will also attend to other departmental business.

Ottawa Official in City, Says:

Expects Many Seek Citizenship

Applications for citizenship under the new citizenship act up until May of this year totalled 18,000, Charles A. Krug, commissioner of citizenship of the department of secretary of state, Ottawa, said in an interview here Wednesday.

If the present rate of applicants continues, the 1947 total of naturalized Canadians will probably be from 25,000 to 30,000.

The new citizenship act, which came into being Jan. 1, provides that in order that all people may qualify, the applicant must satisfy the court with an adequate knowledge of either English or French, or have 20 years of residence in the country.

Before qualifying, Mr. Krug continued, the applicant must have an adequate knowledge of privileges and responsibilities for Canadian citizenship. They must know and understand these democratic privileges and responsibilities, which include traditions, importance of the right to vote, and should know the freedom of religion, he added.

MR. KRUG IS touring the Dominion, working out a plan with various provincial departments of education, for the setting up of adequate instructional facilities to educate the new applicants.

It is the plan that as each person declares his intention to become a citizen, he will be referred to the instructional facilities available in his district.

"These facilities will be made available as fast as possible" he said. Some of them will be ready by this fall.

The facilities will be uniform across Canada, but will have some variations.

In order to develop the actual course of study, the matter has been referred to Canadian Education Association, which represents departments of education.

"IT CAN'T BE a haphazard job, it must be professional," Mr. Krug stated. The general plan is to give these prospective citizens every chance to learn.

Citizenship under the BNA act, is carried out by the province. Judges all across Canada were asked recently to submit material for a qualified plan. All this fine material was summarized in a conference in Ottawa, said Mr. Krug, and now we have a definite target to shoot at.

Response to the principles of the plan by officials of departments of education across the dominion has been good, he said.

Edmonton will be an instructional centre, as the department of education is located here.

Chilly Evening Forecast Here

It was cold again last night, as the temperature dropped to 38 above, at 4:30 a.m. With the forecast from the weather office of a low temperature of 42 for tonight, another chilly evening is in store for Edmontonians. The skies will remain clear through today and Thursday with prevailing light winds. Warmer weather is predicted tomorrow.

The maximum temperature yesterday registered 63 above at 4.30 p.m. and the overnight low registered 38 above at 4.30 a.m. The expected high temperature Thursday is 72 above.

Mrs. W. J. Connolly Wins Safety Prize

Mrs. W. J. Connolly of 10162 145 street won the distinction of being today's safety driver and winner of 10 gallons of gasoline.

She was followed by the Edmonton Safety Council car from 118 street and Jasper avenue by way of 100A street and 102 avenue, until she parked in front of the C. Woodward Ltd. department store at the 101 street door.

At every corner she signified a turn and kept a steady pace.

She was happy to hear that she had observed all traffic regulations and was the winner of 10 gallons of gasoline. She said that she has always tried to be a safe driver in the 25 years she has been operating a car.

The "safety car" encountered an unusual twist this morning when Paul Lawrence, safety engineer on the Edmonton Safety Council, passed through a stop sign at 100A street and 102 avenue.

Mr. Lawrence was notified of his mistake, and was informed that many drivers, probably unaware of the sign, pass through without stopping. There are two signs situated there for both north and south bound traffic.

A delivery truck bearing license number CV 20128 was followed from 111 avenue and 101 street and signalled every turn he made. He pulled up to the curb on 107 street and 101 avenue and the "safety car" passed him immediately pulling up to the curb in front of him. Just as the driver was being notified of his safe driving, the driver made a U-turn in the middle of the block and sped off in the opposite direction.

Fourteen cars were followed this morning, the majority driving too short a distance to be awarded the gasoline.

Two Persons Hurt In City Accidents

Two persons suffered minor injuries in traffic accidents Tuesday night. Effie Romaniuk, 9012 Jasper avenue, a 10-year-old girl was playing on the sidewalk with a small boy about 6:30 p.m. when the boy pointed a water pistol at her and she is reported to have backed off the sidewalk into the side of an auto.

Driver of the auto, Harry Solfer, 11546 97 street, told police the accident occurred at 96 street and Jasper and further stated that his vehicle was either stopped or almost stopped at the time. The little girl was taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital in a passing taxi.

A visitor to Emonton from Brooklyn, N.Y., Joseph W. Poste, told police he was travelling south on 100 street and when about to make a stop at 105 avenue his vehicle was struck in the rear by another vehicle operated by Eric Larsen, 12300 106 street. Mrs. Poste is reported to have suffered a severe shock and was detained overnight in the Royal Alexandra hospital

SEEKS BROTHER

Mrs. Clara Snow, Strome, has asked police aid in locating her brother, Ole Edwin Anderson, whom she has not seen since 1913. At that time her brother was 15 years old and was residing on Namao avenue in Edmonton with his father.

Cabinet Expected Discuss Decision

Decision of the Privy Council that the Alberta Bill of Rights in its entirety is ultra vires of the provincial government, was thought to be the subject of provincial cabinet discussion at a Wednesday meeting.

Premier Ernest Manning was holidaying at the Pacific coast at the time word was received here that the law lords had upheld the Alberta supreme court findings on Section 2 of the bill, and also had ruled adversely on Section 1. He returned to his office Wednesday morning.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, KC, attorney-general, whose return to his office was not expected until about Aug. 15, resumed his duties Wednesday morning and attended the cabinet meeting. He will probably report to his fellow-ministers on legal angles of the London decision.

Fire Threatens North Settlement

A forest fire which Tuesday night was reported 30 miles deep and about 10 miles long was menacing the settlement of Blueberry just north of Fort St. John. The fire at that time was approximately one mile from the settlement which contains an RCMP station, road maintenance equipment, a school and a radio station.

Reports reaching here state that several miles of fire breaks have been constructed with the aid of bulldozers. The fire is travelling in a south westerly direction along the Alaska Highway. So far only a very light rainfall has aided in gaining control of the fire.

A forest fire was also reported to have been in progress near Grande Prairie during the past two days but is now believed to be under control and timber losses at a minimum.

Attends Opening

Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture left Edmonton Wednesday morning to take part in the official opening of the Camrose Exhibition, which unofficially opened its gates Tuesday.

He was accompanied by A. A. Campbell, livestock commissioner.

Seeking Cadets for Service

Naval Board on Visit to City

Completing a tour of Western Canada, in which they have interviewed prospective future cadets for Royal Roads Naval College at Esquimalt, three Canadian naval officers, members of a selection board, left Edmonton for Victoria Wednesday morning.

INCLUDED in the party were: Capt. K. L. Adams, commanding officer of HMCS Uganda; Cmdr. M. H. Ellis, professor at the college; and Lt. Cmdr. J. C. O'Brien, commanding officer of HMCS Crescent.

Applicants are required to pass examinations and then go before the selective board. They must be young men between the ages of 16 and 19, and have completed Grade 12.

They will then take a two-year university course at Royal Roads College, and after completion, they may or may not be in the navy. The ones that successfully make the grade will be midshipmen, and will then go to England for further studies.

The reason for sending them to England, said Captain Adams in an interview at the Macdonald hotel, "is because we don't have enough ships for their efficient training."

Two applicants were accepted at HMCS Nonsuch. They are: George McFarlane, Perth, Ont., and William Welbourn, Cadomin.

Captain Adams, who, during the war was the commanding officer of three Canadian fighting ships, the Prince David, Assiniboine, and Iroquois, has been appointed to a new position, as director of naval reserves, and deputy chief of naval personnel, Ottawa.

He added that HMCS Uganda has been out of commission and HMCS Ontario will take over. War time complement of the Uganda was 950 men, and it has a peace time complement of 750.

For the last 13 months Captain Adams has taken part in Pacific training operations.

Fallow to Make Trip to Churchill

Alberta is to be represented on an excursion to Churchill, on Hudson Bay, by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, who, with Mrs. Fallow, left Sunday night to join the government officials and western business me who are making the trip.

The group was organized by the Saskatchewan government and representatives of western agriculture, business and governments were invited to join it, with a view to examining port facilities at Churchill and to seeing at first hand the advantages the port offers to the west as an ocean outlet for western products.

The trip will end Aug. 11. Edmonton reports indicate that 240 westerners will make the excursion as guests of the Saskatchewan government. The train is being made up by the CNR.

Parades Cancelled

There will be no further parades of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment until Thursday, Sept. 18, Personnel of Headquarters and Support Coy will be notified by mail as to exact commencement date.

Mother: "If you run about the store and get lost, they'll call a big policeman and he'll take you down to the police station."

Berg Sees Hope Labor Program

WINNIPEG, Aug. 6 (CP) — There is "every reason to believe" that a resolution guaranteeing freedom of association to workers, passed by delegates to the 30th annual session of the International Labor Organization held recently at Geneva, will be ratified by the separate governments and from the basis for international agreement, Carl Berg of Edmonton said yesterday.

Mr. Berg, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, attended the session as Canadian labor representative. He said the resolution was endorsed by delegates representing all nations subscribing to the United Nations.

It called for protection of the right of workers to organize and bargain collectively in organizations of their own choice without interference from public authorities or other agencies, and the right to affiliation with international organizations.

Mr. Berg said the resolution placed the subscribing nations on record as supporting union membership without discrimination and an opposed company unions. He was a member of the committee which drew up the resolution.

In the course of a tour of many European countries, he found food conditions "deplorable."

Roosevelt Claims RCAF Rejection

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(CP) — Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the late president, last night told the Canadian Press that "very high officers" of the RCAF had rejected his application to enlist in that unit in 1941.

Earlier Tuesday, in a copyright interview published in the Washington News, Col. Roosevelt was quoted as saying that when he left the United States Army Air Force in 1945 he had applied for enlistment in the RCAF in any combat capacity.

Roosevelt was quoted as saying that the RCAF indicated a desire to have him but wanted to check first with the USAAF to make sure it had no further use for his services.

"Much to my surprise," the News quoted Roosevelt, "I received a notice from the RCAF that they were sorry but they had received word direct from the USAAF in Washington admitting that it was true they were relieving me from active duty but they hoped the RCAF would not commission me because it would be very embarrassing to them."

Late Tuesday, after Col. Roosevelt had concluded a rather successful appearance before the Senate war expenditures committee, he told the Canadian Press he would rather not name those with whome he had correspondence on his Canadian application.

"I would rather not name names but I can tell you that my correspondence was with the very highest officers of the RCAF and with high diplomatic officials. I had also talks with Canadian Embassy officials here on the subject."

See Wheat Surplus For Russia Only

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(AP) —The United States, laying plans to share nearly a third of its current wheat crop with hungry areas abroad posted a reminder Tuesday that Russia, too, is in a position to help out. An agricultural department report on European crop conditions said only Russia and parts of the Danube basin can look forward to a wheat surplus this fall. The rest of Europe faces a yield perhaps 10 per cent below last year's poor crop.

Gorilla Heaves Birthday Gifts Back at Donors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Philadelphia zoo threw a birthday party yesterday for Bamboo, the oldest gorilla in captivity, and he threw it right back at them.

The 21-year-old jungle king's first target was a sign reading "Happy Birthday, Bamboo." He tore it apart and happily munched the cardboard.

Then he picked up a cake his keepers had pushed toward him and heaved it through the bars of his cage. They offered the 500-pound gorilla some tomatoes — and stepped back as he laid down a barrage.

A lemon meringue pie and a watermelon went the same way, splattering keepers and photographers. Out of ammunition, Bamboo sulked and returned to his pen with the remnants of the sign—"Happy Birthday, Bamboo."

Search for Lost Plane Is Failure

VANCOUVER, Aug. 6 (CP)—An unsuccessful day was spent by the frigate Antigonish Tuesday, sweeping the waters of Provost Island with Asdic and echo-sounding equipment for some trace of the missing Trans-Canada Airliner.

The transport went missing April 28 after reporting on course over the Vancouver airport on a flight from Lethbridge.

The search, which continues Wednesday, was dormant for several months due to lack of funds. It was resumed Tuesday following a report by Harry Georgensen, keeper of the Portlock light on Provost Island.

Georgenson told naval officials that, while conducting an unofficial search for the missing aircraft, he located something on the floor of Georgia Straight.

The object was reported to have slid to a deeper ledge when efforts were made to put a line around it.

U.S. Sets Deadline For Boxcar Return

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)— Canada's railways were locked in a race with time today. They had until Friday to roll about 1,000 United States freight cars back across the border. B. S. Liberty, federal transport controller, reported that his counterpart in Washington had set Friday as the deadline for reduction to 8,000 of the adverse balance of U. S. boxcars now compared with the number of Canadian cars now in that country. The deadline already has been set back from Aug. 5 when, originally, the US was due to start restricting the movement of its cars across the border, particularly in the case of coal-carrying gondolas. Whether the Canadian lines can meet the test is problematical but they already have shaved that balance from 18,000 six weeks ago to 9,425 July 30 and 9,013 Saturday.

Reds "Take Over" In Disputed Area

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Russian occupation forces in Austria operated the disputed Zisterdorf oil fields complete with derricks to tank barges yesterday with the seizure of the Lobau refinery in the Russian area of Vienna, B. H. Grove, representative of Socony Vacuum of New York, one of the two joint owners of the Lobau refinery, said Russian engineers were placed in charge Sunday morning on the ground that the refinery was a German asset. The other owner is the Anglo Saxon (Shell) Petroleum Ltd., of London. Grove said a "spirited protest" would be made to the control council.

Field offered $60 a share for all stock in the Times, tabloid evening newspaper, with the provision that holders of at least 65,500 shares must accept the offer by Aug. 25.

As U.K. Cuts Imports

'Fear' Greatest Enemy Canada Trade Outlook

By Chester Bloom

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—The greatest danger which the British-American-Canadian economic world structure faces today is the spread of fear among these nations, The Edmonton Bulletin was informed today in a background talk with men on the highest levels of the Canadian government. It is no use blinking the fact that the British situation has produced a condition of uncertainty which is causing governments in sound economic positions otherwise to begin to curtail spending in all directions.

CANADA, according to these authorities, has less to fear from further British restrictions on imports than perhaps any other nation. The great preponderance of Canadian exports to Britain is food, and food will be the last import materially cut down in any new British program of austerity.

Canadian wheat exports to Britain, our largest sales, will not be materially affected. Moreover, what the British cannot take in food is sought frantically at the highest possible prices by other nations. Belgium for example, is pleading for Canadian wheat. So is France, Italy and half a dozen other European nations.

On the other hand, high government levels here discount much of the talk concerning crop failures and wheat shortages from the prairies. One unknown factor is just how much wheat remains yet in storage on western farms. It is a considerable amount, according to the best estimates. Moreover, the western wheat crop has astonishing capacity for a come-back after what may have looked like a failure in July and early August.

THE CANADIAN economy under any conditions, would prefer to supply her surplus exports to Britain. Moreover, it is not an immediate question of funds since nearly half or about forty per cent of the Canadian billion - dollar loan to Britain is still available: it is merely the fact that the British government alarmed by the rapid use of both the US and Canadian loans, is proceeding to cut her imports in every direction.

Availability of other export outlets is unquestioned; but the Canadian anxiety is to maintain her traditional trade position with the mother country.

TCA Hopes Sign Pact With Eire

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(CP)— Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's reconstruction minister said last night on the eve of his departure for Dublin that he "hopes" to conclude an air agreement with Eire permitting landings by Trans-Canada Air Lines at Shannon airport. "We shall try to conclude an agreement within the next day or so," he said. Howe denied reports that he was returning to Canada next Sunday. He said he would be back in London Aug. 9 and was scheduled to leave Aug. 10 for Berlin and Frankfurt where he will study problems connected with emigration of displaced persons.

Lifesavers Demand Wage Increases

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP) — A meeting attended by 44 of the 52 lifesavers and guards employed at civic beaches last night drafted a letter to the supervisor of lifesavers warning that they will go on strike Saturday if their claims for pay increases are not answered. The lifeguards want equal pay with the 11 ground supervisors who get $35 for a 44-hour week plus overtime. The lifeguards on the same hiring basis get $23.40 for a 36-hour week.

U.K. Needs Study Taste of Buyers

If British industrialists expect to have a satisfied Canadian market they must manufacture goods to the taste and style of Canadians, George Cooper, advertising manager of the Edmonton Journal, stated in a report on his recent trip to England, delivered at a Kiwanis club luncheon in the Macdonald hotel Tuesday.

Mr. Cooper was one of seven newspapermen who travelled to England to provide British industrialists with a formula for entering the Canadian market. The mission was sponsored by the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Great Britain, he said, forms Canada's best market.

THE BRITISH industrialist finds Canada a hard market. There are two principle reasons for this: first, British industrialists do not take care of their agents in Canada and second, industrialists expect to sell goods that do not appeal to the Canadian public.

"The greatest social experiment in a democratic world is going on in Great Britain at the present moment," he added. In any other democratic country, he said, it would not be an experiment but a revolution.

DeMartino Jolts Servo's Comeback

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 6—(AP)—Joe DeMartino, 145, of Bridgeport, brought Marty Servo's comeback campaign to a stunning halt Tuesday as he knocked out the former world's champion after 1:28 of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

The favored Servo was floored three times before DeMartino's final blow knocked him out of the ring. Servo, from Schnectady, N.Y., also weighed 145.

Why Grow Old?

Perhaps you would enjoy an outside interest such as Actress Eleanor Parker's window flower box. Or must you say "yes" to Josephine Lowman's question today?

By Josephine Lowman

ARE YOU IN A RUT? It is difficult to decide which is better, to realize you are in one or to be miserable and not know why! I believe I would choose the former because I would at least be enrolled in a positive attitude rather than in a negative one.

It is difficult to know when you are being dumb and shortsighted and when you are being noble and selfless. Many women sink themselves in the "mother and wife" role, often out of greatness of spirit, but sometimes out of inertia and lack of foresight. In other words, some take the course of least resistance and rest on their laurels, which were gained by capturing a man and giving birth to children.

Believe me, I am not being anti-feminine! I have been married for the last twenty-three years to a most attractive husband and have two children. I believe deeply that women play a role of paramount importance in the scheme of things in the home and I think the woman's role is an extremely difficult one if she gives her all to it. However, wifehood and motherhood do provide a temporary shelter for congenital parasites.

Have you looked ahead? Have you imagined what life will hold for you at forty and fifty and sixty when your children are grown and financial struggles have lessened? Have you thought today what you, as an individual rather than as a mother, can contribute to the general welfare and your own well-being?

I was most interested in a magazine article not long ago about the dilemma of the American woman. It intensified and highlighted the things I have learned from more than a quarter of a million letters from readers each year. Many women feel that life is over at forty or forty-five or fifty. They are bewildered. They do not know what to do with themselves when their children leave home because they have lived beautifully and satisfactorily for so many years, but vicariously through their children and their husbands.

A woman is shortsighted if she does not take herself into consideration as an individual. After all you are a person even though you are a mother and a wife, and would give your life gladly, without thought, for the good of your loved ones.

Therefore it behooves every woman to keep alive personal tastes and talents, hobbies and thoughts even though she be forced to delay their fruition. Save them, as you would life insurance, against the day when you, as an individual, must find happiness and satisfaction within yourself and your own efforts.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 65, "Individual Happiness," or leaflet No. 66, "Hobbies," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

All children have very effective ways of indicating when they do not like a food or do not want any more of it at the moment. One child will swing his head away and avoid the spoon, another will let the food dribble out of his mouth, another will blow it out vigorously.

Children who do not want to drink any more of their milk will bubble it. This is just another form of blowing and is calculated to drive the parent to a frenzy.

It is better to remove both the food and the drink when the child begins to act this way. If the child senses that the mother is upset by this behavior, it inspires him to more of the same. If the mother says calmly, "Oh, you don't want any more," there will be a cry of rage and a renewal of his eating, if he is not true.

The spells of blowing and bubbling are transient too. They may occur during a week when the child is not particularly hungry, as happens periodically. By the next week the child will find his ration appetizing and will eat to them with a will, blowing forgotten.

Sometimes it helps, temporarily, to stop feeding the child or offering the milk and giving him a short rest period. It is typical of parents to set aside a certain time that must be finished by the clock. The child appreciates a rest period when he can play or look around and then the milk or food will taste good to him again.

It takes time to feed a small child. It isn't a matter of moments, even if the amounts of food are measured in spoonfuls. The child gets tired. He strains away. He fusses or pushes at the spoon. He acts as if he never wanted another swallow of anything. But after a rest period he goes back to eating as if he were starved.

It isn't unusual to spend a half hour spooning in the baby's vegetable, pudding and milk. It isn't too long to spend that much time giving the baby his bottle or breast feeding. It is the hurried mother, the mother who is annoyed by dawdling who brings about behavior which is detrimental to both good nutrition and good dispositions at table.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred's leaflet No. 22, "Formulas and Baby Feeding," may be had by sending a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Larry Ronald Pempeit, 13 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pempeit of 10633 116 Street.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young man and have serious intentions of getting married, but my mother is constantly warning me of the dangers and pitfalls of such a course and continually trying to discourage me. She tells me that there is no such thing as a happy marriage and that if I marry I will regret it. What do you think about this?

WORRIED

Answer: I very honestly believe that marriage is worthwhile, even if it fails to realize one's fondest dream and cosmic bliss. Of course, when a man and woman marry who are real mates and who give each other an affection, an understanding and a sympathy that makes them two souls with but a single thought, and when they make a home that is a place of refuge from the turmoil of the world, it is a little bit of heaven on earth. And despite your mother's pessimistic propaganda, there are many such happy marriages.

SOME MARRIAGES are, of course, unendurable. Others are merely tolerable. But out of even a marriage that is not happy a man and woman somehow get a wisdom, an experience, a knowledge of human nature, a strength and a tolerance that round out life and make it fuller and worth the price.

So don't be afraid to try the experiment. Nothing ventured, nothing gained, is as true of marriage, as of business. If you marry, you have a hundred - to - one shot of getting your ideal as a wife and knowing the ultimate bliss. And you have a fifty-fifty chance of marrying a woman who will make you a fairly good wife and far happier than you will be as a bachelor, and those are good sporting odds on any proposition.

Your mother doesn't want you to marry because she is selfish and wants you for herself and so is trying to scare you off of matrimony. Don't let her do it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Just what blame and responsibility do you place on the young married man when the pretty teen-agers try to attract him and offer every encouragement for him to pet them?

A MAN

Answer: I think the young married man who yields to temptation is more to blame than the girl because he is disloyal to his wife, whereas the girl has no responsibilities.

OF COURSE, wives always blame the girl and represent their husbands as poor, innocent, unsophisticated lambs who were taken in and deceived by some scheming adventuress of a woman, but this is just to save their faces. They really know better and are perfectly aware that when a man flees from temptation he always escapes. It is the men who meet the temptation halfway who get caught.

Cynthia was given in marriage by her mother and wore a white embroidered net gown with sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves. Her long veil was held in place with a headdress of orange blossoms. She wore pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Both brides carried bouquets of roses.

The skirt featured a bustle effect at the sides with white flowers. Her floor-length veil was held in place with a Mary, Queen of Scots headdress and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. The bride's only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

Minister Vows To Wear Kilts

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Veterans Affairs Minister Mackenzie, whose engagement to Miss Helen Mary MacRae of Winnipeg has been announced, said last night the wedding would be in Ottawa in September and averred he would wear his kilt to the church.

The 56-year-old government house leader in the Commons said in an interview that he had lost his heart at the Highland Games at Hamilton, Ont., last July 4. He already knew his fiancee and her family when he met her at the games where she went because of a love of Scottish lore.

Miss MacRae is coming to Ottawa during the first week in September and Mr. Mackenzie said the honeymoon would be either in Europe or Scotland, depending, of course, if he can get away from his parliamentary duties long enough to make the trip and "if the Chief will allow it."

Which chief, Prime Minister Mackenzie King or Miss MacRae? he was asked.

"Well, now I have two chiefs!" the minister replied.

BEAUTIFUL JASPER PLACE
THE DISTRICT WITH A FUTURE
Here in a lovely district of comfortable little homes and plenty of garden space surrounded by deep ravines and evergreens we have a rapid growing community. The large garden lots afford the older folks a chance to get out in the fresh air while the kiddies and teen agers can spend their idle time at our supervised playground, tennis courts and skating rink.
If you are looking for a home of your own come in and consult us on our many listings. We will be only too glad to help you. Most of our homes can be handled with small down payments and the balance is payable on rental terms which average $35 per month.
Why pay rent when you can live in a wholesome community and enjoy your own home at the same time.

Think Roman Urn Was Piggy-Bank

LONDON — Archaeologists believe a Roman urn containing 114 silver coins found in a sandpit at Tuddenham, near Ipswich, may be one of the earliest examples of a child's piggy bank.

A gold ring, which was found with the coins, is too small for a woman's finger, but would fit a child's. Urn, coins and ring are all said to be about 1600 years old. A treasure trove inquiry is to be held.

Germans Flock To Foreign Legion

NEW YORK, (NANA) — Most-spoken language in the French Foreign Legion now is German, no longer French.

According to Swedish-born legionary Leif Ekstroem, quoted by a correspondent for Dagens Nyheter of Stockholm, "S.S. Germans and other ones" have flooded into the legion from fear of reprisal or hunger. Although all nationalities are represented in the "devils, not men" corps, Ekstroem said he spoke nothing but German during his half-year in the legion.

The officers, being all French, now are the only ones to use this tongue consistently.

Ekstroem falsified his birth papers to bring his age up to 21 so as to get into the legion. The personal intervention of King Gustav V of Sweden got legion authorities to release the boy. But in his short spell with the colorful desert fighters, he underwent training at legion headquarters, Sidi Bel Abbes, and was then assigned to Indo-China.

He sailed in January 1947, packed with 9,000 other troops into the former luxury liner Ile de France. Several men died of heat prostration in the cramped quarters during the 18-day voyage via Suez, Aden and Singapore.

Retired Teacher Is Globe-Trotter

LONDON, (CP)—C. H. Carr, 80-year-old retired school principal, has travelled seven times around the world. His prize reminiscence is of taking tea with an African chief, his seven wives and 23 children.

Now a bowling team mission to Australia which he planned to join has been abandoned because of lack of shipping space. So Carr has booked a passage to the Bahamas and Florida with the option of slipping out to the South Seas and so, westward, back to his North London home.

He has only one grudge: the war years kept him at home, preventing him from making his seven world trips into 14.

Drive Started In New York To Legalize Mercy Killing

NEW YORK, (NANA) — A drive to legalize voluntary "mercy killing" of persons suffering from incurable disease will get under way in New York state this summer Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, president of the Euthanasia Society of America, has revealed.

And what New York does about mercy killing may set a pattern for other states to follow.

The campaign here for legal voluntary euthanasia (from the Greek meaning well-death) will be spearheaded by 1,776 doctors. This "committee of 1,776" will be supported by 1,500 other physicians, non-Catholic clergy of the standing of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick and Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, and prominent members of other professions.

Explaining that there is growing need for a law permitting voluntary euthanasia, Dr. Dickinson, who has practiced medicine for over 50 years, said:

Not Really Living

"With the increasing life span, one person in eight in the United States probably will die of cancer. Six and one-half months of the time the doomed cancer victim is ill, he must be kept under morphine. He really isn't living—he's doped. There isn't any hope for him. He has to go through this hopeless agony because no law protects the doctor who would yield to the patient's plea to release him from his suffering. We show more mercy to suffering dogs and horses."

When Dr. Edwin Alfred Barton of London recently described how he once poured chloroform on a towel to end the horrible suffering of a patient, other doctors knew what he meant. Dr. Dickinson would not hazard a guess as to how many American physicians may have resorted to euthanasia at some time in answer to the anguished cries of incurably ill patients for death. But cases are legion of those condemned to live—especially under the increasing scourge of cancer.

Had 62 Operations

In Seattle, Alexander Lundin, 41, was injured in a fall 29 years ago and ever since has been a victim of osteomyelitis, chronic inflammation of the marrow of his bones. He has undergone 62 operations. When he was told that he had to have his 63rd operation, he cried, "I want to die! Please just put me to sleep, doctor!"

In New York, a 17-year-old honor student in high school developed cancer. After awhile the drugs no longer had any effect. The boy lost complete control of all his functions. For over a year he lingered in this living death while the other children in the family witnessed his deterioration.

A woman in Long Island was suffering from an incurable disease. For two months the doctor had said she was on the point of death. The last five days and nights she was in such agony that her elderly husband had not left her bedside. Finally, he could stand her suffering no longer; he piped gas from the cellar to her room, ended her torture and gave himself up to the police.

It is to make it unnecessary for an individual to take the powers of life and death in his own hands that legalized voluntary euthanasia is being proposed.

The voluntary euthanasia campaign in New York will aim first at having introduced into the legislature a resolution to create a committee to study mercy killing. Then the society will offer this committee its version of the kind of law that should be adopted.

Proposed Law

Under this proposed law, any person of sound mind over 21 years, who is suffering from severe physical pain caused by a disease for which no remedy affording lasting relief or recovery is at the time known to medical science, could have euthanasia administered.

Such a patient, in the presence of two witnesses, would execute a petition asking for the mercy death. This petition, along with a certificate from the patient's doctor saying he was incurably ill, would then be submitted to a justice of the state supreme court or to the county judge.

On receiving such a petition, the judge would appoint a committee of three persons, two of them doctors, not opposed to euthanasia. This would examine the patient and report to the judge within five days whether the petition should be granted.

If euthanasia is permitted, it would be carried out in the presence of the committee.

Astronomers Find Earth Well Beyond Middle Age

By Thomas R. Henry

WASHINGTON, (NANA) — Man lives in an old section of the universe. That is the conclusion of Northwestern university astronomers after a survey of approximately 44,000 stars in this section of the milky way, whch has just been reported to the National Academy of Sciences here.

Stars, like everything else in the universe, are born, grow old and die. In the beginning they are extremely tenuous and hot, apparently composed chiefly of hydrogen, lightest of all elements and presumably the parent of all the other basic substances in creation.

As they get older, they get denser and cooler. Evidence of heavier elements begins to appear. Finally they get cool enough for the atoms of these elements to combine in molecules. This part of the universe has an exceptional proportion of such stars, according to the report of Dr. Oliver J. Lee, Dr. Greenville D. Gope and Dr. Thomas J. Bartlett to the National Academy. Particularly abundant in the neighborhood, they say, are stars whose spectra show they contain combinations of the rare element titanium and oxygen. This represents a stage well beyond middle life.

"We are forced to conclude," they say, "that perhaps man has appeared upon the cosmic scene in an era when many stars in his vicinity are going through the titanium-oxide stage."

They also found that stars of the same age groups may like to get together.

Middle-aged stars show evidences of containing carbon, the basic substance of all life. Such a star is the sun. Near the Orion constellation in the northern heavens, the astronomers found what they describe as a "nest" of such carbon stars, like a celestial middle-aged men's club.

Keep Rationing In New Zealand

GISBORNE, N.Z., (CP)—Rationing of the four food commodities still fully controlled in New Zealand—meat, butter, tea and sugar —is likely to continue for the rest of the year at least.

Supply Minister S. G. Sullivan, states that rationing of butter will continue as long as the need for fats in Britain is of vital concern. It appeared the need would continue until early next year. The general impression in the trade is that meat rationing also will continue until Britain's meat supply position has been eased.

Present rations in New Zealand are: tea, two ounces per week; butter, six ounces; sugar, 12 ounces; meat, 24 cents worth. Although the latter is a considerable restriction for New Zealanders, who before the war were the world's largest per capita meat eaters, it is not so severe as it sounds. Meat is cheap in New Zealand, and many types, such as ham, bacon, sausages and kidneys, are excluded from the ration.

Numerous other foods, although not on a regular ration for adults, are subject to various forms of control. It is forbidden to sell cream to the public and eggs are in such short supply that at times only a small weekly ration for children is available.

Atom-Bombproof Harbor Planned

NEW YORK, (NANA) — The Norwegian capital is to have the world's first set of port installations which are considered proof against atomic-bomb attack, the Oslo daily, Verdens Gang, reports.

The paper says underground warehouses are to be built in the heart of Mossveien mountain on Sjursoeya island at the entrance to Oslo bay. They will have nearly 500,000 square feet of floor space, and will be 23 feet high.

Rock debris from the excavation will be used to build new quays and the railway connecting the island with the mainland will be entirely underground.

The Norwegian newspaper may have been influenced in its claim by smart press agentry on the part of Oslo's harbor administration, since this summer's U.S. expedition to Bikini atoll has as one prime object a series of investigations which will only then reveal the requirements for an a-bombproof port.

Scrap Iron Prices Jolt Steel Costs

NEW YORK, (AP)—Steel pricing policies may become "completely demoralized, and stabilized costs out of the question," if scrap prices hold to present "ridiculously high figures," the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said.

Scrap's "inflationary gyrations surpass even the hectic first world war days" without a sign, "except wishful thinking," that a peak has been reached or a downward scrap price trend will develop soon, the paper said.

The Iron Age steel scrap composite price index reached a new high of $41.75 a gross ton, with "spectacular market strength."

The paper reported the average price for finished steel about 10.7 percent above two weeks ago and 37.6 percent above the 1939 average.

"Considerable additional revenue will be required to avoid the necessity of drastically curtailing some of the services of the company," said Gordon Farrell, president of the company, in the report.
